Barrier Guarding German Homeland Taken By Soviets

Nazis Fall Back From Fortress City to West Bank of Niemen, Which Parallels East Prussian Border in That Sector

BRIDGEHEAD ON WEST BANK IS CONSOLIDATED

By HENRY P. CASSIDY
Moscow, July 17.—(P)—Red Army troops pushed forward today along a broad front stretching from the Baltics to the Pripiat marshes, after capturing the German-held fortress city of Grodno, described by Premier Stalin as "covering the approach to East Prussia."

Grodno, which the Germans announced earlier they had evacuated, is only 45 miles from the East Prussian border. With its fall the Germans have no natural barrier between them and their homeland, to which it appeared the fighting soon would be carried.

The Germans fell back at Grodno to the west bank of the Niemen river, which parallels the East Prussian border in that sector. Field dispatches said a new Russian crossing of the Niemen was made during the Grodno battle. The river has been crossed by the Russians farther north in the Alytus sector, where the Red army, pushing west of Wilno, has driven within 50 miles of East Prussia.

The Russians have consolidated a bridgehead on the west bank of the Niemen, taking more than 40 positions across the stream in the Alytus sector, front dispatches said.

Martin Hallensleben, military expert for the German news agency DNE, suggested in a Berlin broadcast that the Red army might be entering a trap in its lightning offensive threatened to isolate German troops in the Baltic.

The Moscow communique disclosed that Russian troops were within 10 miles of Kaunas, (old Turn to Page Five)

BULLETINS

Kansas City, July 17.—(P)—The Rev. John Freeman Craig, 80-year-old Winnebago Indian, who as Chief White Eagle was a nationally-known lecturer on Indian folklore and history, died here yesterday. He was a close friend of Buffalo Bill and other pioneers of the west.

Chungking, July 17.—(P)—The Chinese command, reporting gains in North Burma at the long-besieged base of Myittha, asserted today: "The skin of many of the Japanese troops is white from being underground so long without proper diet." The statement was credited to an eye-witness. (Turn to Page Seven)

Dozen River Bridges Leading To Peninsula Front Bombed

London, July 17.—(P)—Up to 750 U. S. heavy bombers attacked a dozen river bridges leading to the Normandy front, the Belfort railroad yards in eastern France and a flying bomb supply dump near Rheims today in one of the largest scale support attacks by four-engine aircraft during the invasion.

Up to 500 fighters escorted the four-engine bombers, Flying Fortresses and Liberators.

Radio Berlin said the Reich itself was under attack for the fifth time in a week. It was one of the rare days since invasion that clear skies has permitted full use of overpowering Allied air power.

The daylight thrusts were preceded by a two-night assault upon the continent, in which a strong force of British-based RAF Mosquitos blasted a German synthetic oil plant at Homberg, in the Ruhr, while Italy-based heavy bombers attacked an oil refinery at Smederovo, near Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

The Mosquito attack on the Ruhr was carried out without loss of a single plane. Allied headquarters in Italy announced loss of 20 planes in sweeping operations, which included a medium bomber attack yesterday on military targets in the Vienna area, raids on objectives in Yugoslavia and southern France and assaults upon German communications in Italy, in addition to the Belgrade mission.

Enemy losses in the Mediterranean were put at 44 planes. More than 1,000 British-based U. S. heavy bombers attacked Munich, Saarbrücken and other vital targets in Germany yesterday, while medium bombers blasted German positions holding up the Allied ground advance around St. Lo. Twelve of the heavy bombers and three fighters were lost to intense enemy flak.

American Marauders swept over the German battle lines in Normandy early last night, hitting a fuel dump south of Rennes, severing a four-span 1,000-foot railroad bridge at Nantes and bombing two more bridges in the Argentin area.

PRODUCTION RESUMED

Detroit, July 17.—(P)—Production of B-24 Liberators was resumed at the Willow Run bomber plant today as employees began returning to work. The Ford Motor Company closed the plant Saturday because of work stoppages by crane operators and riggers. Skelton crews entered the huge plant last night to prepare for full production on the day shift.

Unprecedented Warship and Plane Pounding of Guam Elicits Admission Situation Bad

ADM. SHIGETARO QUILTS

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor
Adm. Shigetaro Shimada has resigned as Japan's navy minister, Tokyo announced today, giving a hint of the stresses at play in the Japanese government since American conquest of Saipan.

Shimada, navy minister since November, 1941—a month before Pearl Harbor—gave way to relatively unknown Adm. Nishikawa Nomura, who comes into a Tojo cabinet facing an unrelenting, 12-day U. S. fleet attack on Guam and setbacks on every other war front save China.

The unprecedented warship and plane pounding of Guam, second only to Saipan as a Marianas island base, elicited from Tokyo radio frank admission that "the war situation does not allow a moment of optimism."

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced yesterday that fleet-based bombers thumped rockets and bombs into Guam's railway facilities Saturday, 12th consecutive day the U. S. pre-war outpost has been hit.

Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia, adding to Japan's bad news, said that large and powerful forces would be thrown into the Pacific war "this year," to enforce a defeat on Japan as decisive as that awaiting Germany.

Nimitz announced the first land-based bombing of two Jima islands, 750 miles southwest of Tokyo. Japanese troops applied heavy pressure to break Hengyang's resistance and were attacking Ying-tak 225 miles to the south. The Chinese, claiming 14,000 Japanese died in the Hengyang siege, said they were counterattacking continuously to prevent seizure of the 175-mile gap in the Hankow-Canton railway, on which Hengyang is an important junction.

House-to-house fighting raged outside the walls of Tengchung, Prime Japanese base above the Burma road in Yunnan province. Chinese troops also fought hard near Lunging, another Burma road base the Allies need to reopen a land route to China. In north Burma Stilwell's rain-soddened men continued whittling down the Japanese defenders of Myittha. (Turn to Page Seven)

Monetary Parley Is Nearing Close

By DONALD KOVACIC
Breton Woods, N. H., July 17.—(P)—The United Nations monetary conference today was extended three days beyond its originally scheduled closing date to permit the vast amount of technical work to be completed without pressure.

An official statement emphasized that the conference would reach agreement "on all matters of substance" by Wednesday, the closing date first fixed, but the final plenary session was moved back to Saturday.

As a result of the decision to delay departure until Sunday the Mt. Washington Hotel despatched telegrams to several hundred prospective guests delaying or cancelling their reservations.

The sessions here already have brought agreement on plans for an $8,000,000,000 postwar "prosperity fund."

OPA Plugs Another Loophole In Gas Rationing Regulation

Washington, July 17.—(P)—The Office of Price Administration today plugged another loophole in gasoline rationing by tightening the procedure for turning in ration coupons when a car is sold to a dealer.

Reds Ever Closer to Nazi Homeland

With the capture of Pinsk, important Nazi defense bastion guarding the approaches to Brest-Litovsk and the flat Polish plains, the Russian armies are plunging ever nearer to the Nazi homeland. Local C. A. P. Help Guard Wrecked Bomber at Blockville

Blockville, N. Y., July 17.—(P)—Five of 12 army fliers were killed and three others injured here Saturday in the crash of a four-motored army bomber. Three others suffered minor hurts and a twelfth escaped unhurt.

The dead were: 2nd Lt. Levin S. Nelson, Asheville, N. Y., pilot; 2nd Lt. Vernon E. Slutz, Milwaukee, Wis., co-pilot; 2nd Lt. John Zur-zak, Chicago, navigator; Sgt. Art. L. Brown, Sterling, Ill., and Cpl. Cleo Boody, Shelton, Neb.

The injured were Cpl. Harold L. Stanley, Martinsburg, W. Va.; Sgt. James Caldwell, Jr., Port Arthur, Tex., and Cpl. Philip Marks, Cincinnati.

Lt. Harry A. Dunn of the Syracuse army air base said a board of officers had been appointed to investigate.

The big bomber passed over Warren a few minutes before the tragedy at Blockville took place. Second Lt. Levin S. Nelson, of Asheville, N. Y., the pilot of the plane, it is reported, had sent word to relatives that he would fly over that way and he did so. The machine circled the village of Asheville several times and then headed away. Blockville, which is about one-half mile west of Asheville, has a hillside sloping up from the lake and while low, the plane wing brushed a large maple tree clipping off the upper part. This swung the ship about and in attempting to gain altitude the plane went into the sloping hillside and careened along the ground for about 200 feet and then crashed into a ravine and burst into flame.

The uninjured member of the crew, who was thrown some distance, recovered his presence of mind and rushed down into the ravine and attempted to rescue the other members of the crew. He succeeded in getting the men who suffered minor hurts out of the wreckage. (Turn to Page Five)

Strikes Close Two Bradford Plants

Bradford, July 17.—(P)—The Dresser Manufacturing Company plant here was idle today as all 1,100 employees left their jobs in protest against a supplemental directive of the regional War Labor Board at Philadelphia which did not provide for wage increases asked by two AFL unions.

The Bovard and Seyfang Manufacturing Company's 344 workers walked out in sympathy with the Dresser employees.

The directive provides for a starting rate of 50 cents an hour for learners, rising to 60 cents after 60 days. The unions—Lodge 1644, International Association of Machinists, and Local 6471 Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers and Helpers—had asked a starting rate of 60 cents, rising to 70 cents after 60 days.

Union officials today said both strikes were unauthorized. The plants manufacture war material.

BULLETIN
Rome, July 17.—(P)—American Liberators from Italy bombed three bridges and a railroad in southern France today.

By NOLAN NORGAARD
Rome, July 17.—(AP)—American troops climbed in relentlessly on Livorno today after capturing the dominating height of Monte Maggiore and pushing on up the Italian west coast to the edge of Montenero, only four miles from the heart of the big port.

Simultaneously other American forces slammed forward in the Era Valley to within five and one-half miles of the Arno river in a broad flanking movement well east of Livorno and Pisa.

The newest gains brought the Fifth Army up against strong German defensive positions and fierce fighting raged all along the front with the enemy launching sharp counterattacks.

An official announcement said French troops of the Fifth Army, which were credited with capturing Poggibonsi over the weekend, had driven one heavy counter-attack and were holding to their positions.

The heaviest German counter-thrust came in the Era valley at Campagnoli, the point of the deepest American penetration. Under cover of night the Nazis struck with a considerable force, rolling the Doughboys back a few hundred yards," a spokesman said.

Later in the night the Americans lashed out again with equal fury and retook the lost ground. German tanks which had been withdrawn from active fighting in many sectors recently were thrown back into this battle.

Deep inland Lorenzana, 11 miles from the coast, fell to other Fifth Army troops who pushed on within a half mile of Crispina, which is 12 miles east and a little north of Livorno.

Uscigliano, 1 mile due east of Livorno, was taken. It was found heavily mined and booby-trapped.

On the Eighth-Army front, German defense difficulties grew and losses mounted with the British capture of the key communications center of Abrezzo.

Over Two Thousand Enjoy Community Recreation Night

Over 2,000 Warren people of all ages turned out on Friday evening to enjoy the Community Recreation Night, sponsored by the P. T. A. Council and planned by the committee on community recreation. It was an occasion which will not soon be forgotten and was something new for Warren along the line of community activity.

The weather was made to order, which made it possible to carry out all the events scheduled on the program, from six o'clock until midnight. Beatty Field was the scene of the softball league playoff; and there were planned activities for the children on the playground.

The game between the Grace Methodists and the St. Joseph's ended 10 to 8, giving the St. Joseph's boys the championship of the first round.

With bleachers and chairs filled, there was standing room only on Beatty lawn for the first high school band concert of the summer, presented under the direction of Harry A. Summers, at 7:15. The program was a particularly suitable one for the occasion and was very much enjoyed.

At nine o'clock every chair at the tables around the outside court and on the parapet was filled, with several hundred people also standing to watch or participate in the second Community Young People's Party. Mac McCarthy's orchestra furnished the music for the first outside dancing party on the court. The lighting effects, the floor show, the refreshments, all contributed to (Turn to Page Seven)

Convicts Wounds Guard, Kills Self

Philadelphia, July 17.—(P)—A convict serving a term for murder hacked and critically wounded a guard with a home-made hatchet and then killed himself with a home-made stiletto in Eastern State Penitentiary today.

Warden Herbert Smith said the convict was outside his cell, apparently "about to make a long-planned break."

Smith identified the convict as Steven Saunders, 27, negro, who was not known to have a home address or relatives. The guard was Edwin Lichtenberger, 35, veteran of 12 years service and the father of two children. He is in the prison dispensary with two deep forehead gashes. Doctors said he may not live. PLANE PILOT GIVEN LIFE IMPRISONMENT

Marana Field, Ariz., July 17.—(P)—Life imprisonment at hard labor was the court martial verdict given Second Lt. Howard E. Stittsworth, pilot of a plane that dipped low over a busy Arizona highway and decapitated the driver of an automobile.

The 21-year-old Wakefield, Kans. flying instructor appeared stunned Saturday after the military tribunal found him guilty of charges of murder and violation of flying regulations.

Stittsworth acknowledged during the two-day trial that his plane was flying low but testified his head was in the cockpit while he attempted to rectify landing gear trouble.

Earl W. Nepple, Los Angeles hotel manager, was killed when the wing tip sliced through the windshield of his automobile on U. S. Highway 89. His wife and another passenger were not injured.

GOOD FLYING WEATHER

BULLETIN
Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 17.—(P)—The American warriors of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, attacking in a thick morning mist in the seventh day of their siege of St. Lo, have driven into that heavily defended bulwark of the Nazi Normandy line, supreme headquarters announced today. On the Americans' left, the Second British army fought blazing engagements in the streets of two villages and captured two others as Lt. Gen. Miles C. Dempsey threw forward strong forces on a nine mile front southwest of Caen in a drive aimed at bursting out of the Normandy peninsula.

By WEST GALLAGHER
Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 17.—(AP)—British Second Army troops drove today into the outskirts of Evrecy, key to the high ground between the Odon and the Orne rivers, after the tank supported troops had stormed into the village of Noyers.

The British attack flamed along a nine-mile line south of Caen, and included a four-mile spearhead to the southwest, bringing the troops to the edge of Evrecy, 7½ miles southwest of Caen.

Caught off balance by the British thrust which began Saturday night, Marshal Erwin Rommel threw five divisions into the battle and one of the biggest contests since the invasion of Normandy promised to develop as Gen. Miles C. Dempsey sought to broaden his springboard salient for a major offensive out of the Normandy peninsula.

To the west, American troops attacked St. Lo for the seventh straight day, groping early morning mists in a siege operation which field dispatches said was grinding down (diminishing German resistance. The Americans pushed forward about 400 yards and stood within 1-1½ miles of the town on both the east and north-west. (Turn to Page Seven)

Six Killed While On a Scenic Ride

Denver, July 17.—(P)—Six persons died in the midst of holidaying throngs Sunday afternoon when a sudden burst of flames swept the Old Mill, housing a scenic boat ride, at Elitch's Gardens in Denver.

Four of the dead were identified by Deputy Coroner Gus Economy as two Buckley field soldiers and their wives. The other two were park attendants who tried vainly to pull the boat riders to safety.

Cause of the fire was not known early today. Bodies of the soldiers and their wives were found in the gaily painted boat, in which a few minutes earlier they had started through the passageway. The attendants were found face-down nearby in the shallow water, where apparently they had been overcome by fumes.

Neighbors Yell For Police As Dogs Howl

"Please go away and let me sleep" was the plaint of neighbors to the East, West, North and South over the weekend as dogs in all four corners of the borough howled and barked. Barking dogs may never bite but even this assurance given and preferred silent dogs. So the telephone into police headquarters buzzed and complaints were many. The cops dashed about the town and in many places the dogs shut up before the cops arrived but in a few instances the dog's owners were warned to put the hush on their pets. Soon lusty snoring resounded where only a short time before husky howls had been heard.

And one bird let out a yip to the cops that he had been short-changed $5 in his favorite beer parlor. He waxed generous and bought refreshments for a trio of friends and says he gave the white aproned bar tender a $10 bill and only got change for a $5 bill in return. The case is still being given the best attention of the coppers.

One drunk was looked up after his wife complained that he had "beaten her on the East Side". Some kids playing on the roof of their home while their parents were at work got attention from the cops who ordered them to stay on terra firma and let the blood

Inquest Held In Fatality At Sheffield

A coroner's jury sitting in inquest at Sheffield Friday evening in connection with the death there June 8th of Reed McMillen following an accident between a motorcycle and a car, found that "Reed McMillen came to his death at Sheffield, Pa., June 8, 1944, from a broken neck and multiple injuries to the body sustained when a motorcycle he was operating on West Main street, on U. S. Route 6, at Sheffield, side-swiped an automobile owned and operated by one Curvin McDowell, of Sheffield, while the said Curvin McDowell was making a left turn without giving proper warning of intent to make such left turn."

Testimony from the seven witnesses developed little information regarding the tragedy not already revealed through investigations made by county officers and state motor police. Seven witnesses were called including Dr. C. J. Crane, Warren; Martha Gerhart, Kane; Curvin McDowell, George Steffen, Paul Benson and Robert Trubie, Sheffield, and State Highway Patrolman L. P. Weir, of the Warren barracks.

Staffan and Trubie were at the skating rink when the automobile driven by McDowell started east on West Main street, followed by McMillen on the motorcycle with Paul Benson as passenger.

It was revealed that Benson was on the seat of the motorcycle and the driver McDowell was sitting upon an improvised pad over the gas tank. Benson could remember little that happened after the impact of the two vehicles. He said he could not see the car ahead because he was looking to the left.

Miss Gerhart, passenger in the McDowell car, testified that McDowell was turning left at the time, evidently with the intention of stopping on the berm of the right because of the short berm on the left side of the road. McDowell admitted he was turning to cross the pavement when the left side of his car was grazed by the motorcycle. He described in detail what happened afterwards and the assistance given to the injured.

Patrolman Weir explained what he had discovered in the investigation that was made on the morning of June 9th. He said that markings were found on both the left front and rear fenders of the McDowell car and the front bumper was torn loose on the left side.

The patrolman informed the jury that the vehicle code requires the operator of a vehicle to give a signal by hand in making a left turn. Stop lights on the rear of the car are not considered sufficient warning.

The inquest attracted a number of spectators to the Borden funeral home. Coroner Ed Lowrey presided assisted by District Attorney J. H. Goldstein. Attorney William Glassman represented the McMillen family.

Information has been filed against McDowell, charging violation of the vehicle code.

Civil Air Patrol Cadets To Visit Army Air Base

Ten members of the Warren Squadron of Civil Air Patrol Cadets have been selected to make a visitation to an active air base of the Army Air Forces.

The special chosen cadets will travel to an army air base to be disclosed later, attending classes and receiving practical instruction in aircraft maintenance and the operation of an air base. The visitation will last for one week during which the cadets will be kept in army barracks and participate in the life of the base.

The privilege of making this trip has been extended to Civil Air Patrol Cadets by General Harper of the Army Air Forces Training Command in recognition and in furtherance of the training program conducted by Civil Air Patrol under direction of the Army Air Forces. Because only a limited number of cadets can be accommodated and safely supervised at a busy Army Air Base, quotas were set up for each Squadron of Cadets throughout the country and the quotas were filled by the selection of Cadets having the best service records.

The following young men have been selected from the Warren squadron: William D. Smith, Louis Nichols, Roy Sherman, Richard Fisk, James Simmons, Arnold

Allen, Donald Owens, Algot Eckstrom, Dale Soderberg, Harry Baxter.

Other Cadets have been named as alternates to take the places of any who are unable to make the trip. The Cadets are required to comply with Army regulations as to immunization against small pox and typhoid. Inoculations will be made at once by the Medical Officer of Group 5, Civil Air Patrol, Dr. Biddle so that the Cadets will be ready to move when orders are received. It is expected that eighty cadets from Group 5 will be ordered to air bases at the same time. The Cadets will be in charge of Officers of Civil Air Patrol while enroute to the air bases and upon their return home. This opportunity is one of several such planned for the future and the young men choose for this training trip will see and learn much that will be of future advantage to them.

The Warren Squadron of Civil Air Patrol Cadets is accepting recruits on Thursday Nights at the National Guard Armory between the hours of 7:30 and 9:00 p. m. Training in aeronautical subjects with texts furnished by Army Air forces and military drill is offered to all recruits. Warren expects to have 90 Cadets in uniform by September 1st.

Sheffield Flier Escapes Injury Intercepted 19 Times By Japs

Sheffield friends of Andy Yuskio, Jr., of Sheffield, were much interested in a story concerning his adventures in the Northwest Area, Southwest Pacific. Andy, 21-year-old lad, is a staff sergeant and is a combat photographer flying with the big bombers, photographing results. He hasn't had "it" by now, he is never going to get "it," say his pals. Despite his youth, he has spent 16 months overseas and is "the most intercepted man" in U. S. Group X, which flies some of aviation's toughest missions.

Andy, who joined the army when he was 18, has to date accompanied his outfit's big Liberators on 33 combat missions, most of which averaged around 2,000 miles and 12 hours flying time. Never attached to the same Liberator twice, machines in which Andy was a crew member were intercepted by enemy fighters the first 29 times that he took to the air.

On his first operational flight—a strike against the Kai islands in September, '43, ten Zeros jumped the Liberator in which Andy was riding. Andy's big ship came home on three engines that time—but three of the "Zeros" paid for it.

His "hottest" scrape, as Andy put it, was while he was participating in his 29th mission—over Guilin, Bay, in northern New Guinea, last month. Andy at the time was in a lone-wolf "B-24" or reconnaissance Liberator. Twelve Zeros "jumped" the four-motored bomber. In a savage hour-long fight the Liberator downed four of the enemy aircraft.

It came home, however, a bullet-riddled sieve with at least 60 cannon shell and machine-gun bullet holes throughout the length and breadth of its huge "cigar-box" frame. It made a successful landing, despite shrapnel-punctured tires.

Andy's longest combat mission to date has been a 17-hour "job" over the Marshall Islands, lying north and west of New Guinea. Yes, he was intercepted on that one, too.

Although classified by Uncle Sam as a combat photographer, Andy has manned in action every gun of the Liberator in which he flies. Eloquent, if silent, testimony as to his effectiveness at these guns is evidenced by the fact that he has always been a welcome addition to the crews of any of the ships of Air Group "X."

Andy hasn't decided yet what he's going to do after the war. He feels that that's a long, long way off—at least in the Pacific. Although he hasn't been intercepted in his last four missions, he's pretty confident that it won't be too long now before Zeros again crowd his sights. Strangely enough, he's looking forward to it.

Andy isn't the only Yuskio fighting this war, he informs us. His only two other brothers of military age (he has four brothers) are both in England. One is with the Royal Air Force, the other is a "foot soldier" in a British infantry regiment.

If his brothers are doing as well as is Andy (Liberators in which he has flown have been officially credited with 19 enemy "kills") heaven help the "Jerry."

Services For Young Seaman Held Sunday

Largely attended services were held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the Peterson Funeral Home for Victor Mahaffey Granquist, seaman first class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Granquist, of Akeley, who lost his life by drowning near his home Thursday evening while on leave from Great Lakes naval training station. Many beautiful flowers attested to the popularity of the young sailor, who was being trained as a radio technician at the Great Lakes school.

Officiating at the rites were Rev. M. J. Harding, of Epworth Methodist church; Rev. Philip Schlick, of Russell and Akeley Methodist churches; Rev. Gordon

Keynoter Kerr Is a Loyal Booster For Pres. Roosevelt

By NEA Service
Oklahoma City, July 17—For they keynoter the Democrats selected a rising politician who possesses at least three unusual claims to distinction.

Robert Samuel Kerr is the first native-born governor Oklahoma ever had. Also—and this is becoming very rare—he was born literally in a log cabin, on September 11, 1896. His birthplace was 60 miles—three days by wagon—from the nearest railroad station.

Bob Kerr is a big man in more ways than one. He is huge physically, six feet three inches tall—which is an inch shorter than his 17-year-old son Bob, Jr., and an inch taller than his 15-year-old son, Breene—and weighs 245 pounds. He is big as a self-made business man, head of his own $5,000,000 Keryn Oil Co., one of the most substantial of the smaller independents. The company's major business is drilling wells for other operators in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Montana, Wyoming and Colorado. In addition, Kerr's firm annually sells about $1,000,000 worth of its own oil.

And he is big politically, up to now highly successful in his own state and boosted by his admirers as a man who will leave his imprint on national Democratic politics. There are those who think that he would make an excellent running mate this year for President Roosevelt.

Bob's father, Sam Kerr, took his wife and infant daughter Lois from Texas to Indian Territory in a covered wagon, lived that first winter in a tent, and then built the 14-foot square log cabin in which Bob was born. The cabin still stands and is occupied.

The elder Kerr was farmer and rancher, taught rural school, kept a store and was a cotton buyer. Bob helped his father and went to school at Ada. He studied at the Ada State Normal School, at Oklahoma Baptist University, and at the University of Oklahoma.

When World War I broke out Bob was too young for officers' training camp and lacked the formal educational requirements. Dean James S. Buchanan of the University of Oklahoma helped by enrolling Bob as a senior, and young Kerr broke the bottleneck by adding a year to his age.

He went to France in 1918 as a private, too late to see fighting action. In his first political activity, he helped elect a state commander for the American Legion in 1924. Next year he took over that office for himself.

His next major venture into politics came 10 years later, when he helped elect the late E. W. Marland as governor. In 1938 he was given much credit for the election of Leon C. Phillips as governor. He broke with Phillips in 1940, when Kerr became Oklahoma's most ardent, active Third Termer while Phillips opposed Mr. Roosevelt's re-election vigorously.

As newly-made national committeeman, Kerr led the successful New Deal drive in his state in 1940 and in 1942, successfully bucking an anti-Democratic tide that sent the Willkie-Democrat, E. H. Moore, to the U. S. Senate as a Republican, Kerr was elected governor.

Out of many anecdotes told about Bob Kerr, perhaps the one concerning his courtship most nearly epitomizes his character and methods. In the summer of 1925 he noticed a tall blonde visitor on an Ada tennis court. He wangled an invitation and obtained a date for horseback riding. That led to a tennis date, which in turn led to a proposal date. On this third encounter, Bob informed Grayce Breene that they were going to be married, and she could select the date if she had any choice. Miss Breene kept him demanding for a few weeks, but they were married the day after that Christmas.

When he first left the Army, young Kerr went into the produce business. Burned out, he studied and practiced law. Soon after he was married, he formed a partnership with a brother-in-law in the oil well drilling business. They worked in the fabulously rich Oklahoma City field, where almost any hole in the ground spouted oil, and by taking part of their drilling fees in the form of equities in the wells, they shared in that wealth.

From this grew the prosperity of the Keryn Oil Company, and Bob Kerr's position as a leader in the industry. From 1935 until he ran for governor, he was president of the Kansas-Oklahoma division of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Ass'n.

Kerr is a Baptist, a prohibitionist, an ardent Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and civic worker. Besides the two older boys, the Kerr children include Kay, 13, and Bill, 6.

Bell Awarded Certificate Of Appreciation

The Chief Signal Officer's Certificate of Appreciation "for loyal and patriotic services rendered the Signal Corps of the Army of the United States" was awarded the Ben Telephone Company of Pennsylvania Friday at special ceremonies in the company's headquarters building in Philadelphia. The award is designed as a testimonial to organizations and individuals who have performed outstanding services beyond the normal requirements of duty.

The telephone company was among the organizations which participated in a vast recruiting program during the early days of the war, when specialized communications personnel were vitally needed by the Signal Corps in a period of unprecedented expansion. Large organizations recruited entire signal units from within their own employees and in most cases supplied both officers and enlisted personnel.

The Bell Company now has a total of 1486 employees in the armed forces, more than half of them in the Signal Corps. The award was presented to Philip C. Staples, president of the telephone company, by Colonel Howard S. Peacock, Signal Officer, Third Service Command, representing Major General H. C. Ingles, Chief Signal Officer.

YOUNGSVILLE NEWS

Youngsville, July 14—There was a large attendance Thursday evening at the Fellowship dinner and the 4th quarterly conference meeting held in the dining room of the Methodist church with guests present from the Garland and Irvine churches. The dining room was pleasingly decorated with flowers for the beautiful cooperative dinner. A group of young ladies of the church were present and assisted in serving.

Rev. and Mrs. Galbraith of Jamestown were guests and Dr. Galbraith, as District Superintendent conducted devotionals and the quarterly conference meeting. Very good reports of the work of the church were given from each of the churches showing an increase in membership and in world service and pastor's salary. Appreciation was expressed for the work during the year of the pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Dwight Jack.

Plans are going forward for the Methodist Sunday School and church picnic to be held on Island Park Wednesday afternoon and evening, July 19.

Mrs. Arnold Codisopoli and two children of East Orange, N. J., are spending a month or more with the former's aunt Mrs. Frank Black of West Main street.

Mrs. Codisopoli is a graduate of the Warren General Hospital Nurses Training Course and spent one day this week in Warren with a group of seven friends, all members of her class in the Nursing course of the Warren General Hospital.

Mrs. Blanche Kirham and Miss Dr. Schnell have returned from a recent trip to Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Walters and family were recent visitors on Chautauqua Lake.

WAC Officer Will Be Here Wednesday

Lt. Esther P. Potts, WAC Recruiting officer for the district will be in Warren at the YWCA Wednesday July 19th to talk to interested applicants about the Women's Army Corps.

There is a triple choice plan for the Women's Army Corps, which has been announced recently, allows WACS to choose their jobs from the Army's list of 239. If a WAC has no special training, she can secure new skills for herself by attending one of the Army's highly technical schools.

As their second choice under this plan, WACS can choose their branch of service from the Army Air Forces, Army Service Forces or Army Ground Forces.

Choice of any camp or airfield in the section of the country where they enlist is the third feature of the plan. This means that WACS can fill important jobs at Army stations near enough their homes to allow them to visit their families on weekend passes.

IRVINE

Irvine, July 13—This is a beautiful day owing to the rain in the few days past which cooled the air and helped the crops a lot.

Mrs. Allie Johnson of Titusville was a guest of her sister Mrs. Floyd Smith a few days last week. She had her little grand daughter with her.

Miss Isabella Randalilla who has been very sick is able now to be out and her friends hope she will soon be her former self.

Mr. James Murray, our justice of the peace for several years has been confined to his bed for several weeks.

Dick Huling left this week for camp after spending a ten day furlough with his parents, also Charles Zueri has been home and gone again.

Mrs. Harry Johnson left Sunday for a vacation at Oil City and Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Lucile Nulph has been quite poorly for some time last week. She went to Cleveland on Tuesday and returned Thursday and after two weeks she expects to return and undergo an operation.

Her many friends are hoping she may regain her health. The William McCauley family is spending the summer at their summer camp across the river.

Howard Walters and four children Jean, Howard Jr., Barbara and John from Pittsburgh arrived last Friday morning to visit his mother Irene Walters and the Stewart-Jaquins family on Frank street, Warren. They left here Tuesday evening to get the flyer yesterday morning for Erie on the way home.

Mrs. Myrtle Weaver Sederburg underwent an operation at the Warren Hospital some time ago. She has returned home up Irvine Run. Her many friends would like to see her improve faster.

The storm yesterday played with several of the phones but they seem to be working at them.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lightner had their children from Pittsburgh several days. They have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Oviatt have been entertaining their granddaughters from Amherst, Ohio.

Ruth Stewart who is training for a nurse at Williamsport, left this morning after spending two weeks with her parents and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Stewart and family have returned to their home at Danville, Ill. after spending several days at his home here.

Rev. Perrin who has been pastor of the Presbyterian church here for several years has been transferred to Scrub Grass, Pa., near Emmington. He will be missed in the church and his many friends in town.

COUNTY KITCHENS ARE TIN MINES

Women of Warren county can "mine" tin sufficient for 144 Flying Fortresses this year.

These figures were compiled by J. A. Stewart, vice-president of the American Can Company, on the basis of canned foods consumed by civilians in the county during 1943. On the basis of last year's consumption, civilians will open 3,465,912 cans of food this year, he says. According to a table recently issued by Washington, 24,000 cans provide tin sufficient for one Flying Fortress.

Meanwhile, the armed forces consumed approximately three billion cans of food during 1943 and needs for the current year are expected to rise to three and a quarter billion cans, Mr. Stewart says. He points out that with a greatly increased number of the armed forces in overseas duty, more canned foods will be needed because the can has proved the most practical container for the shipment of foods abroad.

As co-chairman of the Warren County Salvage Committee, Mrs. H. W. Conarro would like to thank the patriotic women of Warren county for the splendid work they have done on the last tin can pick-up, which netted more than a large carload or over 300,000 cans, well processed. This is the eighth car shipped from Warren county.

Please continue to save every tin can as Warren County has ranked among the highest in the state in their work in this project. This is the one job that only a woman can do, and it contributes more to the war effort than they realize.

Mrs. Conarro also asks the women of the county to save every kind of paper as it is number one on vital war salvage and our county's quota is 213 tons per month or more than 14 carloads. The next pick-up in Warren will be Wednesday, July 19.

SITUATION ON THE PENINSULA

By DeWitt MacKenzie Associated Press War Analyst

Heavy intensification of the war in the European theatre may be expected from now on since there are only about three months of prime fighting weather left to the Allies before the autumn rains come to the aid of the Hitlerites, and on that basis the possibility of an early knock-out of Germany depends on what happens in the next dozen weeks or so.

A happy sign of Allied determination to make hay while the sun shines is seen in today's report of General Montgomery's attack in the Caen sector to secure a more favorable position for a major offensive. In other words the big battle for which we have been waiting seems to be boiling up at long last. This decisive engagement must be fought and won by the Allies before they can break out of the Peninsula into the wide open spaces which will give access to Paris—and Berlin.

Things have been moving slowly for the United Nations in Normandy. There have been several reasons for this—vile weather, heavy Nazi resistance, and Montgomery's unwillingness to sacrifice the lives of Allied troops unnecessarily by making a major attack before he was fully equipped. The general is daring but not foolhardy, and his great successes give confidence in his judgment. Apparently he finally is about set for the big show.

The fresh battle at Caen, which is a preliminary to the all-out drive, is of great importance. This ancient inland port and military stronghold is the pivot on which the final engagement of the peninsula will turn. Once Montgomery has maneuvered his forces into favorable position he will launch his big offensive. If his old opponent of the African desert, Nazi Field Marshal Rommel, doesn't open the attack first.

The coming battle of Normandy will be a bloody affair because of its vast importance. Upon it depends whether the Allied invasion will be stalled, thereby giving Hitler a new lease of life, or whether we shall break through to the hinterland quickly. Hitler's hope is slim, not that the Allies are well established on the Peninsula, but he is bound to fling everything he can into this decisive engagement.

As a matter of fact, the Fuehrer's new scheme of making France the decisive theatre seems to be on the rocks already.

The German peril has been multiplied by the Russian capture of the strategic city of Orsk. This is one of the doors to East Prussia, which the Russians are approaching with amazing speed. The way things are moving the Red armies will be on German soil in the immediate future.

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — The Civil Aeronautics Board has made two announcements recently, the results of which may sooner than anticipated determine the pattern for our participation in post-war world aviation.

The first was an outline, subject to revision, of course, of what the international air routes of tomorrow will be. The second was the announcement that in July, CAB will start hearings on the more than 100 applications for international air routes now on file.

In outlining the world plan CAB told of the nation's interest in international airlines and landing fields. The proposed routes cover 140,000 airline miles, touching more than 50 countries. Of these, 60,000 miles are over new routes. It would be impossible to describe these world airways here, but certain points are significant. If CAB's routes are followed, the jumping off cities for world travel will be New York, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Miami, New Orleans, Brownsville, Charleston, Chicago and the Twin Cities, with one other point in the southeastern United States.

ALASKA would become a great crossroads between Chicago and Seattle here, and Tokyo, Vladivostok, Shanghai and Hong Kong. Out of New York, Newfoundland would be the point of departure for London, Berlin, Rome and Cairo, as well as for Stockholm, Leningrad, Moscow and Tehran. The southern cities would be the leaders for Mexico and South America, as well as for the southern route to the Mediterranean.

State department officials say clearing the routes will entail an enormous amount of work, but by no means is it an insurmountable task. Many of the lanes cross countries where we already have agreements. Since our policy is to establish these lines purely on a competitive basis, and in nearly every instance to swap reciprocal landing rights in this country, few nations who have any hopes of building future international airlines of their own would hesitate to participate.

The first hearings on foreign service franchises will be on those which operate through the Caribbean to South America and Africa. Both continents now are ready for commercial aviation as soon as planes are available and wartime restrictions on commercial aviation can be relaxed.

AVIATION experts here are predicting that not more than a dozen franchises will be granted out of the many now on file. CAB will grant them on a basis of financial responsibility, and experience in operation of domestic airlines, or possibly other carriers.

The decisions of the CAB aren't final. The President has the right of ratification or veto and even then it is up to the State department to give clearance before the proposed routes can be opened.

County Agents News

Binder Breakdowns Can Be Avoided

A thorough checkup on binders will not only avoid breakdowns but will insure good tight bundles of the right size, County Agent Tritt points out.

A binder must be in good shape and operated to meet field conditions, if sloppy, loose, and poorly shaped bundles are to be avoided he says. The cutter bar should be really sharp if a clean cut is to make a square bottom on the bundle.

Adjusting the reel to tip the straw straight back on the platform is necessary to have the straw move properly on the elevator. Often a platform retarded, such as a wire or metal strip, can be attached at the outer edge of the platform to help keep the straw moving properly on to the elevator.

Slats torn from canvas cause elevator difficulties. A loose frame or worn roller bearing will cause the elevator to shift and loosen slats. Thorough lubrication of all moving parts will facilitate operation and chains should be checked, for rusty parts as well as to make certain chains are the proper size for each sprocket.

Beetles, Aphids Squash Bugs are Prevalent in Vegetable Gardens Now

Considerable damage from beet beetles, several types of plant lice, and squash bugs have been reported in vegetable gardens the past week and require prompt control, according to County Agent Tritt.

Damage from the Mexican bean beetle has been apparent, and a treatment of 1/2 per cent rotenone dust now will save the bean crops, he says.

Watch for aphids, plant lice, or the small sucking insects, particularly on broccoli as it starts to head, the county agent urges. Green aphids have been observed on the undersides of leaves of melon, squash, and cucumber plants, as well as cabbage plants. These can be controlled with a spray prepared by mixing a teaspoon of nicotine sulphate and a small handful of either flake or soap powder in a gallon of water. Undersides of leaves should be sprayed thoroughly.

Squash bugs appearing on small plantings can be most easily controlled by hand-picking the adults and the brown egg masses found on the undersides of leaves. The adults can easily be trapped by placing a board on the ground near the base of the plants. During the heat of the day, the adult squash bugs will collect under the boards and they can easily be destroyed then, he says.

Mid-Summer Seeding Adds Vegetables in Garden

Numerous crops can be sown in mid-summer to keep the garden in production as well as insure crop of fall greens, reminds County Agent Tritt. Because of the usual hot, dry weather, mid-summer plantings require a special procedure to insure sprouting.

He suggests turnips, rutabagas, kale, spinach, fall radish, cabbage, Chinese cabbage, endive, and lettuce as some of the vegetables which can be planted now.

For best results, mid-summer plantings should be in a little deeper than spring plantings. Thorough watering of the furrow before sowing the seed is important. Addition of some mulching material in the covering of the seed will help hold the moisture and give the seeds a chance to sprout. More water may be needed as the plants appear, although the county agents recommends occasional thorough wetting rather than frequent light watering.

When the plants are still small, the poorer ones should be pulled out. Thinning down to the right spacing makes the best plants, and thinning conserves moisture, an important item in mid-summer planting.

Spray Bordeaux For Late Potato Blight

Word that the late blight has been found in potato fields prompts County Agent Tritt to urge a careful and systematic spray of bordeaux mixture on all potato plants in Warren County.

The county agent points out that although the past week's weather has been unfavorable for development and spread of the blight, arrival of any damp, moist weather conditions will help the blight to spread rapidly with devastating effects.

A good coverage of every potato plant with bordeaux mixture is the only safe control of blight spread, he points out.

train circumstances, County Agent Tritt says farmers who know the most common causes of trouble may prevent the sickness or death of valuable stock on pasture.

Probably the most frequent cause of death is eating wilted leaves of the common wild cherry, found in numerous fence rows. Unwilted wild cherry appears to be harmless, but if a tree or branch blows down, the deadly prussic or hydrocyanic acid forms as the leaves begin to dry. This is the same property which renders sorghum poisonous under certain conditions. A trip around the pasture after severe storm to look for trees or branches knocked down, may be time well spent, he points out.

Poison hemlock and water hemlock are common weeds in some pastures, especially on moist land. Both are large branching plants with hollow stems and flat-topped clusters of small white flowers similar to those of the wild carrot. Both have a strong odor when crushed. Stock usually leave the large plants alone, but may eat the young growth in the spring or after the pasture is mown, along with the grass. These weeds should be pulled when the ground is moist, or the stock fenced out of areas where they occur. White snakeroot sometimes kills or sickens cattle and sheep. It grows in shaded areas and also has small white flowers in a flattened cluster at the top of the rather tall, slender, unbranched stem.

Bracken or brake fern is believed to cause symptoms similar to those of hemorrhagic septicemia. It is common and well known in northern counties. Stock will not eat it if other food is adequate, and it rarely causes trouble in improved pastures.

Young plants of jimson weed and the first leaves of cocklebur often are eaten by hogs with fatal results. Both are common in the average hog lot, which too often offers little edible forage except coarse weeds.

Wilford Crouse Seneca Pres. Died in Salamanca Hospital

Wilford Crouse, president of the Seneca Nation of New York, died in the Salamanca Hospital Saturday, July 15th. He had been for some time a patient in the Warren General Hospital; but he was removed to Salamanca when it became evident that there was no chance of his recovery from the heart ailment which caused his death. He was aged 42. He is survived by his father, Jerome Crouse; his wife, Effie Watt Crouse; his daughter, Thelma Crouse Oldfield, whose husband is in the Army; a grandson, Gordon Oldfield; and an adopted son.

In the 1840's the Senecas of the Cattaraugus and Allegany Reservations in New York State abandoned government by chiefs in favor of a form of constitutional, representative government like our own. It's constitution provided for a President, to be chosen from the Cattaraugus and Allegany Reservations in alternation; a Surgeon, Counselors, Peacekeepers and other Nation officials. It was explicitly recognized as an independent nation by the governments of New York and of the United States. This was, of course in line with the repeated guarantees given the Senecas by both on the many occasions when they sold lands or made other treaty concessions to the whites. The lands on both Reservations are national property. The railroads, utilities and the towns located thereon, including the City of Salamanca, lease from the Nation and pay rent therefor.

Naturally, the whites object to this. For over a century they have put great pressure on the Nation to divide its lands, allotting them in severalty so that white lessees may deal with individual fee owners and themselves become actual owners instead of tenants. They have persuaded some Senecas to their point of view.

Almost from the beginning, two political parties developed within the Nation. One favored resistance to white encroachments of every sort and maintenance of the ancient liberties by all means short of violence. The opposition party is no less opposed to delivering over, but its membership has taken more or less the position: "What's the Use? We're licked anyhow. Why spend all the money and go to all the trouble?"

Two families on the Allegany Reservation have for years led the "conservative" element—the Crouses and Watts. The original Crouse there was that Peter Crouse who was taken captive as a boy during the Revolution and who preferred to remain amongst the Senecas when he might have been free.

He settled down near Old Town, New York; married an Indian woman and reared a large family of children all of whom were considered Indians by the rules of Seneca descent. Wilford Crouse was a direct descendant of this Peter, altho the percentage of white blood in his veins from that quarter was small.

Wilford married the daughter of Hiram Watt, leader of the Pagan Handsome Lake religion amongst the Allegany Senecas. Hiram's son, Capahs Watt, was a great student of the treaties, laws and rulings under which his Nation had been erected and was the Seneca's ablest leader against the whites. For instance, during the last World War, the Nation took the position that its people were not subject to draft. Knowing that for a century the courts of the United States had consistently found against the Seneca Nation wherever any issue was joined before them between the Nation and the whites' governments, he advocated avoiding the issue at that time and lead in the Nation's declaration of war against Germany which put its men in a position to join our Army. This time, however, the draft question was taken to the courts; and the Nation lost out. Recently, however, a high time in years for the Seneca Nation in its history. This was when the Supreme Court refused to review the decision; and it stands as the first real victory for the Seneca Nation in its history. It is, too, a victory for the party which Wilford Crouse represents, as successor to his brother-in-law, Cephas Crouse. A few years before his death Cephas lost his voice because of a throat ailment, and Wilford became, in effect, the voice of Cephas amongst the people and successor to Cephas' position as first advocate amongst Senecas for preservation of their independence.

Wilford Crouse died while serving his fourth term as President. He was sober, industrious, honest, intelligent and able. These qualities earned for him the respect of Indians and whites alike. He was the sort of man who would make his name in any society.

His funeral will be held from his home near Cold Spring, N. Y., on Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Bond Sales to Individuals in County Are Increasing

The Warren County War Finance Committee's consolidated report for sales of war bonds in the Fifth War Loan shows a slightly increasing improvement in the sales of bonds in individuals, which, however, have reached only 44% of the quota established for such sales. Bond buyers are again reminded that sales of Series "E", "F" and "G" war bonds brought during the entire month of July, as well as the Tax Savings Notes, will continue to count toward Warren county's quota in the Fifth War Loan. It is known that the payroll allotments of several industries will add substantial amounts, but it will require considerable purchases in large amounts to fulfill the record which Warren county has made in the previous War Loans. Workers in the Junior War Finance Committee are reminded that this is the day for completion of their task and a final report through Boy Scout headquarters, supplementing the excellent report turned in last week, following the hundreds of calls made by those groups in the borough and county.

Big Attendance Marked Lawn Service Held On Beatty Field

There was an especially large attendance Sunday evening for the outdoor community worship service held by the Warren County Ministerial Association on Beatty school lawn. It was necessary to add chairs to the seating capacity afforded by the bleachers to handle the audience.

A very enjoyable 15-minute concert of sacred music was played by the Salvation Army Band under the direction of Capt. Arthur Brandenburg just prior to the regular evening service.

Rev. Ernest Riark, of First Baptist church, was in charge and gave a fine address on "Centralization of the Cross." The ladies quartet from his church, Mrs. H. D. Harris, Mrs. Foster Maze, Miss Viola Lindmark and Miss Evelyn Wolskroft, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Other pastors assisting in the service were Rev. Nore Gustafson, of St. Paul's, who gave the Scripture; Dr. H. A. Rinard, First Lutheran, who offered prayer, and Rev. B. F. Armstrong, county Sunday school missionary, who pronounced the benediction.

Next Sunday's speaker will be Dr. Rinard, with music by the First Lutheran choir.

Soon after, then hundreds gathered at the scene and the bodies of the men killed were taken out. Ambulances from Jamestown were rushed to the scene and the injured were taken to hospitals. The bodies were recovered later. Officers arrived soon and guarded the plane.

A call for the Jamestown Civil Air Patrol got many of the squadron on the scene within a matter of a short time and they stood guard until Saturday night. Then a call was sent to Warren for members of the Warren Squadron and they sent a group under command of Lieut. Vincent Burkhardt to the scene. They stood guard from 9 o'clock last night until this morning. The CAP cadets returned home this morning tired by their long vigil.

Women of Ashville Red Cross and of the Niobe Red Cross served coffee, sandwiches and doughnuts to the CAP guard at three hour intervals. The women from Niobe were in charge of the serving while the Warren Patrol was on guard.

The charred remains of the big Liberator drew crowds all day Sunday and thousands visited the scene of the crash. It was a sad ending to an attempted farewell to the family of the young officer.

Byrnes Mentioned As Dark Horse For Vice President

Amid all of this maneuvering, Barkley was scheduled to arrive Sunday to put personal impetus into his own campaign. He will nominate Mr. Roosevelt for the presidency and his friends were combining this fact with other circumstances to cite him as the logical second place candidate.

Sharing interest with the vice presidential race was a controversy between contesting delegates from Texas and South Carolina for convention seats.

Forge Loses to Wagner's All-Stars 5 to 3

Largest Crowd of the Season At Wilder Field to Witness Close And Exciting Contest

The National Forge team after winning 15 consecutive games bowed to Honus Wagner's All-Stars at Wilder Field Sunday afternoon by the close score of 5 to 3. The game attracted the largest crowd ever to assemble at the field, there being 1,200 fans in attendance.

Although Forge outlived the All-Stars 8 to 6, the visitors took advantage of Gagliardi's wildness in the opening frame when Freddie issued passes to Pope and Debnier. With two men retired Firstbase-man Fugal and Rightfielder Gorman singled to put over the two tallies.

Forge opened the first with Gagliardi and Morrison getting hits but they were stranded as Rosequist and Natale failed in the clutch. The All-Stars scored two more in the fifth on singles by Debnier and Heyl. With one out Fugal fled to Morrison who threw to the plate. Rosequist failed to hold the ball and Debnier scored. This would have been the third out and no runs scored. Gorman singled and Heyl scored the second tally. The final score for the All-Stars came in the sixth on a base on balls to McWilliams, a sacrifice bunt and a wild throw by Geigerich. Another unearned run. Forge finally scored in the sixth after Creola walked and Geigerich laid down a sacrifice bunt. Morrison singled, Creola going to third, scoring on a fly ball by Rosequist. Natale singled off the third baseman's glove and J. Massa failed to come through, the first time in many years, Forge scored two more in the seventh. Solok singled and scored on a hard hit ball by McKinney into deep left field, the sphere traveling 360 feet. McKinney singled but Gagliardi's out, Creola singled but Geigerich hit into a fast double play, ending another scoring threat.

Heffner replaced Haines in the seventh and did a good job holding Forge for the remainder of the game. Gagliardi pitched fine ball holding the All-Stars to six hits, the lowest they have registered all year. Forge scored three earned runs to the two by the All-Stars, Forge got a hand from Wagner, who stated that the team was the best semi-pro nine that his outfit has encountered all season. The All-Stars are playing five to six times a week and are undefeated this year, and Forge fans feel proud of their team.

The largest crowd of the season witnessed a well-played game, fans coming from miles away to see the game.

Through the efforts of Honus Wagner, who supervises the Federation of Semi-Pro baseball in the Pittsburgh district it will be possible for fans of the Forge team to see only the best teams of the entire area. Any team seen at Wilder Field in the near future coming from the Pittsburgh district must be recommended through Wagner.

Next Sunday, July 23rd, the crack Dormont club from Pittsburgh, rated by Wagner as equal to his team, will be brought to Wilder Field at great expense, and it is hoped that fans will respond as they have in the past so Forge can assure better teams from Sunday to Sunday.

St. Jo's last year's YMCA Church League champions, took the first half title in the league by defeating Grace Methodist Friday evening at Beauty Field by the score of 10 to 8. Red Tome and Thayer Font played outstanding ball in the field for St. Jo's, while Rader as usual pitched fine ball for Grace Methodist. Errors by his team mates caused his defeat. The box score:

Forge Wins Close One From Fast Young Jamestown Team

National Forge won its 15th consecutive game of the season Friday night against a fast, young and well schooled bunch of Jamestown boys playing under the name of Newberys. Score 2 to 0.

The young Jamestowners played heads-up ball throughout. On different occasions had men on second and third when beautiful stops by Freeborough and Geigerich kept them from tying up the game. On the other hand the visitors outlived 9 to 4. Forge from scoring by fielding flawlessly. Freeborough pitched beautiful ball, fanning ten and allowing only four hits. Onik, formerly from Sheffield, had Forge hitters guessing with his unusual style.

A return game is booked with the team at the Sate Hospital Field on a date to be announced early in August and fans who failed to get a glimpse of the outfit will have an opportunity some time in the future.

First Flight Browns to Beat For League Title Instead of Yankees

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Browns, enroute home today from their second eastern road trip, still are perched at the top of the standings, giving every indication they are the team to beat for the American League flag.

They wound up their stay abroad by capturing both games of a double header from the Cleveland Indians, 8-7 and 2-1, before 32,553, with both games going 12 innings. The double win gave the Browns a record of 10 wins and 10 losses on their trip, after having dropped four of their first six games. The showing is a great improvement over their first road trip, which brought them only six victories against 12 defeats.

The sweep increased the Browns' first place lead over the New York Yankees to two full games. Four home runs by Don Savage, Johnny Lindell, George Stinewiss and Herschel Martin gave the New York Yankees a 7-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the opener of a scheduled twin-bill before 41,171. A thunderstorm prevented the team from playing the second game. The victory gave the Yankees the series, four games to one.

Baltimore, July 17—(P.)

Baltimore's International League pennant aspirations took an upward leap today as Ace Pitcher Sam Lowry returned to the mound instead of entering the navy as scheduled. Announcement of his deferment by his Philadelphia draft board until after the expected birth of a child to his wife this fall was made yesterday by Orioles Manager "Tommy" Thomas after a meeting with the city's military board.

Lowry, in the first end of a double-header against Jersey City, pitched what was thought to be his last game for the duration. The Detroit 9-3 win was his eighth against five defeats.

Red Cross Wins High Praise From Former Warren Boys

Capt. Calvert H. Crary, formerly of Warren, and now adjutant of a Provost Marshal's command in charge of war prisoners in a North African city, wrote on July 2nd the following relative to the American Red Cross: "I am a strong booster of this organization. At the moment I am writing on the shaded roof garden which they constructed on top of the building next to the officer's club. They take good care of the soldiers who come to town on pass, with good movies and about everything a man could ask for. It keeps the boys out of trouble to have a fine place like that to go to. But probably their best work is what they do for men who are prisoners of war. If my observations are worth anything, I venture to say that their packages are the brightest spots in the lives of those fellows. Of course I see this process in reverse."

A brother, Capt. Stephen T. Crary, chaplain in an army hospital in a New Zealand city also recently wrote of the Red Cross as follows: "We have five Red Cross workers here—all women—and they have done an excellent job. Miss Russell, the field director, heads up the work. She is a trained social worker and does all the welfare problems, home inquiries, etc. I am constantly referring boys to her in such cases as sickness at home, emergency furloughs in case of some great need at home, lost addresses of relatives, inquiries about family conditions and all that this involves. She sends cables to the States and replies seem to get back in a week or two. The other workers are in charge of recreation and craft work and ward visiting. There is a program of some sort every evening in the Red Cross Hall for patients. Two nights a week they have movies. On two other nights they have stage shows with civilian talent. On one night they have a sort of party with local girls in attendance. On the other nights there is some sort of informal entertainment such as amateur movies, a travel talk, an accordion player or banjo. Then there are two craft workers—one of whom spends her time in the shop with the boys who are up and around. The other goes about to the wards to look after the bed patients. Leather work is most popular. Lots of the boys make pocket books, leather picture frames, writing cases, etc. Next in popularity is wood carving with Maori art as inspiration. They make bowls, boxes, and wall plaques. Occasionally a boy will do bead work or just plain braiding of string. They usually make belts. In addition to this we have a well organized group of Grey Ladies. They each come on certain days. They usually arrive from home with a load of flowers for the various wards. They take baskets of cigarettes, gum, stationery, etc. and make their rounds. Some of them write letters for the boys. Others do sewing and altering of clothes and all of them do shopping in town on request, picking up some gift for a boy to send home or some souvenir of his stay here. All in all the Red Cross is doing a great work here and because it goes on quietly and inconspicuously, few people realize what a big need they are filling.

Oil Expert Will Address Bradford Meet

Dr. S. T. Yuster, in charge of secondary recovery research at the School of Mineral Industries, Pennsylvania State College, will discuss certain phases of air-gas representing a meeting of central Pennsylvania oil operators which will be held by the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association at Franklin. The meeting will open at 7:30 p. m. at the Franklin court house and is open to all producers in the area. The recently accelerated research program of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association includes research on all types of secondary recovery operations—namely air-gas injection and water-flooding. Dr. Yuster is in charge of this research at the state institution. His topic will deal only with air-gas secondary recovery methods at this meeting.

THIS "SOLID" EARTH
We speak of "solid" earth, and yet the earth spins on its axis, dashes around the sun, wobbling like a top as it goes; its core is liquid, its surface is three-fourths water, and even the ground is so elastic that it gives with the tides. During World War I, one British soldier was affected by disturber action of the heart for every four actually wounded.

A Post-war Plan to Help "Small Business"...

3rd
in a series of ads on
post-war opportunities

Every business starts small. No business, however large, can function without good smaller businesses working with it day by day. The oil wells and refineries of Esso Marketers could not sell their output without the vast army of local, independent dealers and distributors who bring the bulk of our products to you.

At war, we have seen these businessmen do a magnificent job.

They have worked under most difficult rationing restrictions. Their manpower shortage has grown worse and worse. They have had to push old equipment to the limit.

And still they have done an outstanding job in helping to hold the nation's transportation together.

After the war they will have new tough problems to face—in modernizing facilities, replacing old equipment, expanding their businesses.

To help them do this we announce the Esso Marketers Business Assistance Plan.

THE PLAN, which will be revised from time to time to keep pace with new developments, includes:

1. Suggestions for post-war service station designs.
2. A list of recommended equipment now generally available, to which will be added new equipment from time to time.
3. Modernization of existing service stations to meet post-war needs for petroleum products and the handling of other services for automobiles, trucks and air travel.

4. This plan faces the fact that many of these smaller businessmen will not come through the war with financial reserves equal to their sound business expansion needs. This plan will supplement the service of local commercial banks in lending money to see these men "over the hump" of post-war needs.

Anyone interested in the plan, and qualified for its help, may write:

You can be rich in food points all winter long—by putting up the plentiful summer produce NOW for later use.

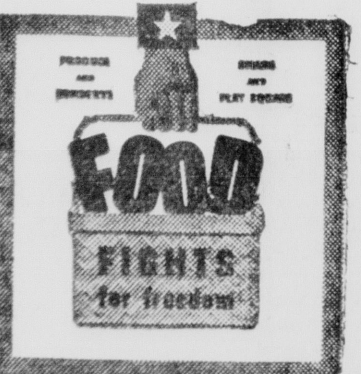

It's the easy, economical way to insure plenty of varied, delicious POINT FREE nourishment for your family next winter. And it's a practical way to help make available more commercially canned food for our Armed Forces and our Allies.

But summer doesn't last long! Better start your canning today! But be sure of getting good results by following these rules:

1. Preserve only sound, strictly fresh produce—the excess from your Victory Garden and produce from local farms and market gardens.
2. Use only up-to-date scientific methods. Such information can be obtained by writing to your State College of Agriculture or to "Home Canning", U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. Or follow the methods taught at your local canning center (ask your school or newspaper if there's one in your community).

3. Use only proper equipment. If you haven't got it, or can't buy it, arrange to share someone else's canner... or use the facilities provided by your community canning center.

Had Narrow Escape From Lightning Bolt

"Buck" Whiteshot, who garnered one of the finest coats of tan to be seen in the city while changing a few tires and squirting gas in tanks of cars at the Times Square Service station is pretty pale today. His nerves are a bit shaky, too and all as the result of being bombed by a bolt of lightning yesterday. Mr. Whiteshot and his wife were at their camp near Hermit Springs when the big storm that passed Warren to the south roared in upon that section. It was a heavy storm accompanied by brilliant lightning and heavy thunder. Mr. and Mrs. Whiteshot were preparing breakfast when a bolt of lightning hit a tree within 16 feet of their cottage. The lightning ripped the tree apart and tore out the roots following them to the corner of the cottage. A huge hole was torn in the earth near the cottage and the bolt ripped along one side of the cottage, tore a hole in the cement block chimney and passed out in the earth along a drain pipe from the sink. The blast missed the oil stove by a few inches and Mr. and Mrs. Whiteshot were also missed by a matter of feet. "It was the most terrific noise I ever heard" said Mr. Whiteshot this morning in recounting his experience. Not until last evening was I able to hear and for hours afterward by eyes suffered from the effect of the blinding flash. I hope I never have another such experience as both Mrs. Whiteshot and I were so shaken that we left the camp soon after the occurrence and came home". Pieces of the linoleum which covered the floor were exhibited by Mr. Whiteshot. The linoleum seemed to balloon up from the floor and then explode into hundreds of pieces. Flies in the cottage were all killed by the heavy sulphurous fumes. Fortunately no fire followed the visit of the lightning but the damage done to the cottage will be considerable.

Letters to the Editor

Editor Times-Mirror:

Friday evening's paper stated that S. H. Loding, while searching for the body of Mr. Granquist, located it and lost it. This is a misstatement. Loding and Silze were out in the Loding boat. Silze was diving, but the water was so roily he could see nothing—water 12 to 15 feet deep. Another boat was also helping and thought they had located it, but it was something on the bottom, but not the body. These two boats were working long before the arrival of the fire department. Upon their arrival, after securing drag hooks, Loding and Silze resumed operations, but all boats were too far downstream. A fireman asked for a boat and went out a while, but had to leave. Then Angove, Silze and Loding took the boat out and Loding suggested they drag nearer the bar. It was here in a few minutes the body was brought to the surface and brought to shore.

These are the facts.
S. H. LODING.

Employees Given Welcome In Clever Sylvania Booklet

A 32-page booklet titled "Welcome to Sylvania" which is currently being given to every new employee of Sylvania Electric Products Inc., is being termed an outstanding illustration of cordial working relations between management and employees. Prepared by the company's industrial relations department, the booklet covers working conditions, employee benefits and opportunities, company organization, obligations to the public and to stockholders, and gives a glimpse into the future. "We hope that business conditions throughout the country after the war will be generally good. If this is so we foresee a good demand for Sylvania's regular bread-and-butter products on a scale equal to or larger than the pre-war rate. "There is little question but that we shall see a broad expansion in the fluorescent lighting industry, particularly as this more efficient form of illumination becomes adapted to home use—the largest part of the market. "Our radio tubes will be needed in sets to replace the many that will have worn out during the war and will be used in the new types of sets, such as FM and, as it develops, television. "Depending upon worldwide conditions, we would anticipate an increasingly large foreign market for our products. The name Sylvania is registered in every leading country in the world." The booklet is unusual in its warm effort to make the new employee forget his strangeness, to make him feel welcome. After a statement of greetings from W. E. Poor, president, the handbook asserts in sound, constructive fashion "Why You Are Here".

RUSSIANS WITHIN TEN MILES OF KAUNAS

Allies Advance in Five Sectors in Normandy

Barrier Guarding German Homeland Taken By Soviets

Nazis Fall Back From Fortress City to West Bank of Niemen, Which Parallels East Prussian Border in That Sector

BRIDGEHEAD ON WEST BANK IS CONSOLIDATED

By HENRY P. CASSIDY

Moscow, July 17.—(P)—Red Army troops pushed forward today along a broad front stretching from the Baltics to the Pripat marshes, after capturing the German-held fortress city of Grodno, described by Premier Stalin as "covering the approach to East Prussia."

Grodno, which the Germans announced earlier they had evacuated, is only 45 miles from the East Prussian border. With its fall the Germans have no natural barrier between them and their homeland, to which it appeared the fighting soon would be carried.

The Germans fell back at Grodno to the west bank of the Niemen river, which parallels the East Prussian border in that sector. Field dispatches said a new Russian crossing of the Niemen was made during the Grodno battle. The river has been crossed by the Russians farther north in the Alytus sector, where the Red army, pushing west of Wilno, has driven within 50 miles of East Prussia.

The Russians have consolidated a bridgehead on the west bank of the Niemen, taking more than 40 positions across the stream in the Alytus sector, front dispatches said.

(Martin Hallensleben, military expert for the German news agency DNE, suggested in a Berlin broadcast that the Red army might be entering a trap in its lightning offensive threatened to isolate German troops in the Baltic.)

The Moscow communique disclosed that Russian troops were within 10 miles of Kaunas, (old Turn to Page Five)

BULLETINS

Kansas City, July 17.—(P)—The Rev. John Freeman Craig, 80-year-old Winnebago Indian, who as Chief White Eagle was a nationally-known lecturer on Indian folklore and history, died here yesterday. He was a close friend of Buffalo Bill and other pioneers of the west.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 17.—(P)—Secretary of War Stimson, while visiting troops in this theater, took part recently in the maneuvers of a unit headed for France.

Chungking, July 17.—(P)—The Chinese command, reporting gains in North Burma at the long-besieged base of Myitkyna, asserted today: "The skin of many of the Japanese troops is white from being underground so long without proper diet." The statement was credited to an eye-witness. (Turn to Page Seven)

Dozen River Bridges Leading To Peninsula Front Bombed

London, July 17.—(P)—Up to 750 U. S. heavy bombers attacked a dozen river bridges leading to the Normandy front, the Belfort railroad yards in eastern France and a flying bomb supply dump near Rheims today in one of the largest scale support attacks by four-engined aircraft during the invasion.

Up to 500 fighters escorted the four-engined bombers, flying Fortresses and Liberators.

Radio Berlin said the Reich itself was under attack for the fifth time in a week. It was one of the rare days since invasion that clear skies has permitted full use of overpowered Allied air power.

The daylight thrusts were preceded by a two-ply night assault upon the continent, in which a strong force of Britain-based RAF Mosquitos blasted a German synthetic oil plant at Homberg, in the Ruhr, while Italy-based heavy bombers attacked an oil refinery at Smederevo, near Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

The Mosquito attack on the Ruhr was carried out without loss of a single plane. Allied headquarters in Italy announced loss of 20 planes in sweeping operations, which included a medium bomber attack yesterday on military targets in the Vienna area, raids on objectives in Yugoslavia and southern France and assaults upon German communications in Italy, in addition to the Belgrade mission.

Enemy losses in the Mediterranean were put at 44 planes.

More than 1,000 Britain-based U. S. heavy bombers attacked Munich, Saarbrücken and other vital targets in Germany yesterday, while medium bombers blasted German positions holding up the Allied ground advance around St. Lo. Twelve of the heavy bombers and three fighters were lost to intense enemy flak.

Russian Yak-9 fighters struck industrial objectives in East Prussia, making the assault on the Reich a three-sided affair.

American Marauders swept over the German battle lines in Normandy early last night, hitting a fuel dump south of Rennes, severing a four-span 1,000-foot railroad bridge at Nantes and bombing two more bridges in the Argentan area.

PRODUCTION RESUMED

Detroit, July 17.—(P)—Production of B-24 Liberators was resumed at the Willow Run bomber plant today as employees began returning to work. The Ford Motor Company closed the plant Saturday because of work stoppages by crane operators and riggers. Skelton crews entered the huge plant last night to prepare for full production on the day shift.

MONETARY PARLEY IS NEARING CLOSE

By DONALD KOVACIC

Bretton Woods, N. H., July 17.—(P)—The United Nations monetary conference today was extended three days beyond its originally scheduled closing date to permit the vast amount of technical work to be completed without pressure.

An official statement emphasized that the conference would reach agreement "on all matters of substance" by Wednesday, the closing date first fixed, but the final plenary session was moved back to Saturday.

As a result of the decision to delay departure until Sunday the Mt. Washington Hotel despatched telegrams to several hundred prospective guests delaying or cancelling their reservations.

The sessions here already have brought agreement on plans for an $8,000,000,000 postwar "prosperity fund."

Unprecedented Warship and Plane Pounding of Guam Elicits Admission Situation Bad

ADM. SHIGETARO QUILTS

By J. B. KRUEGEL

Associated Press War Editor
Adm. Shigetaro Shimada has resigned as Japan's navy minister, Tokyo announced today, giving a hint of the stresses at play in the Japanese government since American conquest of Saipan.

Shimada, navy minister since November, 1941—a month before Pearl Harbor—gave way to relatively unknown Adm. Nankuni Nomura, who comes into a Tojo cabinet facing an unrelenting, 12-day U. S. fleet attack on Guam and setbacks on every other war front save China.

The unprecedented warship and plane pounding of Guam, second only to Saipan as a Marianas island base, elicited from Tokyo radio frank admission that "the war situation does not allow a moment of optimism."

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced yesterday that fleet-based bombers thumped rockets and bombs into Guam's railway facilities Saturday, 12th consecutive day the U. S. pre-war outpost has been hit.

Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia, adding to Japan's news said that large and powerful forces would be thrown into the Pacific war "this year," to enforce a defeat on Japan as decisive as that awaiting Germany.

Nimitz announced the first land-based bombing of two Jima islands, 750 miles southwest of Tokyo.

Japanese troops applied heavy pressure to break Hengyang's resistance and were attacking Yung-tak 225 miles to the south. The Chinese, claiming 14,000 Japanese died in the Hengyang siege, said they were counterattacking continuously to prevent seizure of the 175-mile gap in the Hankow-Canton railway, on which Hengyang is an important junction.

House-to-house fighting raged outside the walls of Tengchung, Prime Japanese base above the Burma road in Yunnan province. Chinese troops also fought hard near Lunging, another Burma road base. The United States said it had landed troops to reopen a land route to China. In north China, Stilwell's rain-soddened men continued whittling down the Japanese defenders of Myitkyna. Maine Delegation Is Visiting Dewey

By WILLIAM W. TYLER

Albany, N. Y., July 17.—(P)—The drive to boost Republican representation in the United States senate is one of several topics slated for discussion today when Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York meets with Maine's GOP delegation in congress.

Leading off the second week's round of conferences between the presidential nominee and republican congressmen, the Maine group, headed by Wallace H. White, senate minority leader and a member of its foreign relations committee, were to be luncheon guests of Dewey.

Dewey talked Friday with Representative Charles A. Halleck, Ind., chairman of the Republican campaign committee of the house, who said the discussion centered on ways of coordinating the presidential and congressional campaigns in such manner as to strengthen both.

The governor returned to Albany last night after spending the week-end at his Pawling farm. Mrs. Dewey remained at the farm with the Dewey children, Thomas, 11, and John, 8.

Reds Ever Closer to Nazi Homeland

With the capture of Pinsk, important Nazi defense bastion guarding the approaches to Brest-Litovsk and the flat Polish plains, the Russian armies are plunging ever nearer to the Nazi homeland. Other Red army units have broken into the outskirts of Grodno, from which they can attack East Prussia and effect a pincer movement on Brest-Litovsk.

Local C. A. P. Help Guard Wrecked Bomber at Blockville

Blockville, N. Y., July 17.—(P)—Five of 12 army fliers were killed and three others injured here Saturday in the crash of a four-motored army bomber. Three others suffered minor hurts and a twelfth escaped unhurt.

The dead were: 2nd Lt. Levin S. Nelson, Asheville, N. Y., pilot; 2nd Lt. Vernon E. Slutz, Milwaukee, Wis., co-pilot; 2nd Lt. John Zurzazak, Chicago, navigator; Sgt. Art. L. Brown, Sterling, Ill., and Cpl. Cleo Boody, Shelton, Neb.

The injured were Cpl. Harold L. Stanley, Martinsburg, W. Va.; Sgt. James Caldwell, Jr., Port Arthur, Tex.; and Cpl. Philip Marks, Cincinnati.

Lt. Harry A. Dunn of the Syracuse army air base said a board of officers had been appointed to investigate.

The big bomber passed over Warren a few minutes before the tragedy at Blockville took place. Second Lt. Levin S. Nelson, of Asheville, N. Y., the pilot of the plane, it is reported, had sent word to relatives that he would fly over that way and he did so. The machine circled the village of Asheville several times and then headed away. Blockville, which is about one-half mile west of Asheville has a hillside sloping up from the lake and while low, the plane wing brushed a large maple tree clipping off the upper part. This swung the ship about and in attempting to gain altitude the plane went into the sloping hillside for about 200 feet and then crashed into a ravine and burst into flame.

The uninjured member of the crew, who was thrown some distance, recovered his presence of mind and rushed down into the ravine and attempted to rescue the other members of the crew. He succeeded in getting the men who suffered minor hurts out of (Turn to Page Five)

Strikes Close Two Bradford Plants

Bradford, July 17.—(P)—The Dresser Manufacturing Company plant here was idle today as all 100 employees left their jobs in protest against a supplemental directive of the regional War Labor Board at Philadelphia which did not provide for wage increases asked by two AFL unions.

The Bovard and Seyfang Manufacturing Company's 344 workers walked out in sympathy with the Dresser employees.

The directive provides for a starting rate of 50 cents an hour for learners, rising to 60 cents after 60 days. The unions—Lodge 1644, International Association of Machinists, and Local 647, Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers and Helpers—had asked a starting rate of 60 cents, rising to 70 cents after 60 days.

Union officials today said both strikes were unauthorized.

The plants manufacture war material.

American Troops Cling Relentlessly on Livorno After Capture of Dominating Height

ENEMY IS FALLING BACK

Rome, July 17.—(P)—Allied troops crossed the Arno river today.

BULLETIN

Rome, July 17.—(P)—American Liberators from Italy bombed three bridges and a railway in southern France today.

By NOLAN NORGAARD

Rome, July 17.—(AP)—American troops climbed on Livorno today after capturing the dominating height of Monte Maggiore and pushing on up the Italian west coast to the edge of Montenegro, only four miles from the heart of the big port.

Simultaneously other American forces slammed forward in the Era Valley to within five and one-half miles of the Arno river in a broad flanking movement west of Livorno and Pisa.

The newest gains brought the Fifth Army up against strong German defensive positions and fierce fighting raged all along the front with the enemy launching sharp counterattacks.

An official announcement said French troops of the Fifth Army, which were credited with capturing Poggibonsi over the weekend, had driven one heavy counter-attack and were holding to their positions.

The heaviest German counter-thrust came in the Era valley at Campanoli, the point of the deepest American penetration. Under cover of night the Nazis struck with a considerable force, rolling the Doughboys back a few hundred yards," a spokesman said.

Later in the night the Americans lashed out again with equal fury and retook the lost ground. German tanks which had been withdrawn from active fighting in many sectors recently were thrown back into this battle.

Deep inland Lorenzana, 11 miles from the coast, fell to other Fifth Army troops who pushed on within a half mile of Crispina, which is 12 miles east and a little north of Livorno. Ussigliano, 1 miles due east of Livorno, was taken. It was found heavily mined and booby-trapped.

On the Eighth-Army front, German defense difficulties grew and losses mounted with the British capture of the key communications center of Abrezzo.

Over Two Thousand Enjoy Community Recreation Night

Over 2,000 Warren people of all ages turned out on Friday evening to enjoy the Community Recreation Night, sponsored by the P. T. A. Council and planned by the committee on community recreation. It was an occasion which will not soon be forgotten and was something new for Warren along the line of community activity.

The weather was made to order, which made it possible to carry out all the events scheduled on the program, from six o'clock until midnight. Beatty Field was a scene of the softball league playoff, and there were planned activities for the children on the playground. The game between the Grace Methodists and the St. Joseph's ended 10 to 8, giving the St. Joseph's boys the championship of the first round.

With bleachers and chairs filled, there was standing room only on Beatty lawn for the first high school band concert of the summer presented under the direction of Harry A. Summers, at 7:15. The program was a particularly suitable one for the occasion and was very much enjoyed.

At nine o'clock every chair at the tables around the outside court and on the parapet was filled, with several hundred people also standing to watch or participate in the second Community Young People's Party. Mac McCarthy's orchestra furnished the music for the first outside dancing party on the court. The lighting effects, the floor show, the refreshments, all contributed to (Turn to Page Seven)

Convicts Wounds Guard, Kills Self

Philadelphia, July 17.—(P)—A convict serving a term for murder hacked and critically wounded a guard with a home-made hatchet and then killed himself with a home-made stiletto in Eastern State Penitentiary today.

Warden Herbert Smith said the convict was outside his cell, apparently "about to make a long-planned break."

Smith identified the convict as Steven Saunders, 27, negro, who was not known to have a home address or relatives.

The guard was Edwin Lichtenberger, 35, veteran of 12 years service and the father of two children. He is in the prison dispensary with two deep forehead gashes. Doctors said he may not live.

PLANE PILOT GIVEN LIFE IMPRISONMENT

Marana, Ariz., July 17.—(P)—Life imprisonment at hard labor was the court martial verdict given Second Lt. Howard E. Stittsworth, pilot of a plane that dipped low over a busy Arizona highway and decapitated the driver of an automobile.

The 21-year-old Wakefield, Kans., flying instructor appeared stunned Saturday after the military tribunal found him guilty of charges of murder and violation of flying regulations.

Stittsworth acknowledged during the two-day trial that his plane was flying low but testified his head was in the cockpit while he attempted to rectify landing gear trouble.

Earl W. Nepple, Los Angeles hotel manager, was killed when the wing tip sliced through the windshield of his automobile on U. S. Highway 89. His wife and another passenger were not injured.

HEAVY BATTLE IS WAGING IN AREA OF CAEN

Germans Endeavor to Block Montgomery's First Move To Obtain "Jump Off" Spot For Offensive

GOOD FLYING WEATHER

BULLETIN

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 17.—(P)—The American warriors of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, attacking in a thick morning mist in the seventh day of their siege of St. Lo, have driven into that heavily defended bulwark of the Nazi Normandy line, supreme headquarters announced today. On the Americans' left, the Second British army fought blazing engagements in the streets of two villages and captured two others as Lt. Gen. Miles C. Dempsey, three forward strong forces on a nine mile front southwest of Caen in a drive aimed at bursting out of the Normandy peninsula.

By WEST GALLAGHER

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 17.—(AP)—British Second Army troops drove today into the outskirts of Evreux, key to the high ground between the Odon and the Orne rivers, after the tank supported troops had stormed into the village of Noyers.

The British attack flamed along a nine-mile line south of Caen, and included a four-mile spearhead to the southwest, bringing the troops to the edge of Evreux, 7½ miles southwest of Caen.

Caught off balance by the British thrust which began Saturday night, Marshal Erwin Rommel threw five divisions into the battle and one of the biggest contests since the invasion of Normandy promised to develop as Lt. Gen. Miles C. Dempsey sought to broaden his springboard salient for a major offensive out of the Normandy peninsula.

To the west, American troops attacked St. Lo for the seventh straight day, groping early morning mists in a siege operation which field dispatches said was grinding down (unimpaired German resistance. The Americans pushed forward about 400 yards and stood within 1-1.4 miles of the town on both the east and north-west.

Six Killed While On a Scenic Ride

Denver, July 17.—(P)—Six persons died in the midst of holidaying throngs Sunday afternoon when a sudden burst of flames swept the Old Mill, housing a scenic boat ride, at Elitch's Gardens in Denver.

Four of the dead were identified by Deputy Coroner Gus Economy as two Buckley field soldiers and their wives. The other two were park attendants who tried vainly to pull the boat riders to safety.

Cause of the fire was not known early today. Bodies of the soldiers and their wives were found in the gaily painted boat in which a few minutes earlier they had started through the passageway. The attendants were found face-down nearby in the shallow water, where apparently they had been overcome by fumes.

Byrnes Mentioned As Dark Horse For Vice President

BULLETIN

Chicago, July 17.—(P)—A telephone appeal to President Roosevelt to back up personally a firm he has addressed to the Democratic convention expressing preference for vice president Henry A. Wallace as his running mate was under consideration today by Wallace strategists.

By JACK BELL

Chicago, July 17.—(P)—In a rapidly tightening race for the Democratic vice presidential nomination War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes pulled up to a challenging position today along with vice president Henry A. Wallace and Senator Alben W. Barkley in a contest a dark horse might win.

Byrnes, who acted as President Roosevelt's personal agent in helping bludgeon the 1940 party convention into nominating Wallace, apparently was working behind the scenes here in his own interests. Jackson has the letter but refused to discuss its contents pending formal release. However, one person who had seen it said it contained "a very strong personal appeal" in behalf of Wallace. Neighbors Yell For Police As Dogs Howl

"Please go away and let me sleep" was the plaint of neighbors to the East, West, North and South over the weekend as dogs in all four corners of the borough yowled and howled. Barking dogs may never bite but even thus assured the neighbors didn't like the assurance given and preferred silent dogs. So the telephone lines to police headquarters buzzed and complaints were many. The cops dashed about the town and in many places the dogs shut up before the cops arrived but in a few instances the dog's owners were warned to put the hush on their pets. Soon lusty snoring resounded where only a short time before husky howls had been heard.

And one bird let out a yip to the cops that he had been short-changed $5 in his favorite beer parlor. He wanted generous and bought refreshments for a trio of friends and says he gave the white aproned bar tender a $10 bill and only got change for a $5 bill in return. The case is still being given the best attention of the cops.

One drunk was locked up after his wife complained that he had "beaten her on the East Side". Some kids playing on the roof of their home while their parents were at work got attention from the cops who ordered them to stay on terra firma and let the blood pressure of the neighbors get back to normal.

Shore Patrolmen arrived in the city and escorted Joseph LeTrent back to his command in the U. S. Navy. He was AWOL for over a month and will doubtless do a stretch in the brig.

Torpedo Child Struck by Car Seriously Hurt

Peggy Litzinger, nine year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Litzinger, of Torpedo, is in serious condition at Warren General Hospital as the result of an accident which occurred while she was roller skating Saturday afternoon.

It is learned from Pennsylvania State Police officials who investigated the accident that the little girl was skating on the roadways on Route 27 near Torpedo about four o'clock Saturday afternoon when she was struck by a car driven by Charles R. Burton of Warren RD 2.

Mr. Burton told police the child was heading south when she suddenly crossed the highway directly in the path of his machine. It has not been determined definitely whether she fell before the car or rolled into the front end of it.

Brought to the hospital by her parents, it was learned she received bruise burns over her entire body and suffers a great deal of pain in her chest.

Police officials are continuing investigation of the incident.

Inquest Held In Fatality At Sheffield

A coroner's jury sitting in inquest at Sheffield Friday evening in connection with the death there June 8th of Reed McMillen following an accident between a motorcycle he was riding and an automobile driven by Curvin McDowell, also of Sheffield, found that "Reed McMillen came to his death at Sheffield, Pa., June 8, 1944, from a broken neck and multiple injuries to the body sustained when a motorcycle he was operating on West Main street, on U. S. Route 6, at Sheffield, sidewiped an automobile owned and operated by one Curvin McDowell, of Sheffield, while the said Curvin McDowell was making a left turn without giving proper warning of intent to make such left turn."

Testimony from the seven witnesses developed little information regarding the tragedy not already revealed through investigations made by county officers and state motor police. Seven witnesses were called including Dr. C. J. Crane, Warren; Martha Gerhart, Kane; Curvin McDowell, George Steffan, Paul Benson and Robert Trubie, Sheffield, and State Highway Patrolman L. P. Weir, of the Warren barracks.

Staffan and Trubie were at the skating rink when the automobile driven by McDowell started east on West Main street, followed by McDowell on the motorcycle with Paul Benson as passenger.

It was revealed that Benson was on the seat of the motorcycle and the driver McDowell was sitting upon an improvised pad over the gas tank. Benson could remember little that happened after the impact of the two vehicles. He said he could not see the car ahead because he was looking to the left.

Miss Gerhart, passenger in the McDowell car, testified that McDowell was turning left at the time, evidently with the intention of stopping on the berm of the right because of the short berm on the left side of the road. McDowell admitted he was turning to cross the pavement when the left side of his car was grazed by the motorcycle. He described in detail what happened afterwards and the assistance given to the injured.

Patrolman Weir explained what he had discovered in the investigation that was made on the morning of June 9th. He said that marks were found on both the left front and rear fenders of the McDowell car and the front bumper was torn loose on the left side.

The patrolman informed the jury that the vehicle code requires the operator of a vehicle to give a signal by hand in making a left turn. Stop lights on the rear of the car are not considered sufficient warning.

The inquest attracted a number of spectators to the Borden funeral home. Coroner Ed Lowrey presided assisted by District Attorney J. H. Goldstein. Attorney William Glassman represented the McDowell family.

Information has been filed against McDowell, charging violation of the vehicle code.

Civil Air Patrol Cadets To Visit Army Air Base

Ten members of the Warren Squadron of Civil Air Patrol Cadets have been selected to make a visitation to an active air base of the Army Air Forces. The specially chosen cadets will travel to an army air base to be disclosed later, attending classes and receiving practical instruction in aircraft maintenance and the operation of an air base. The visitation will last for one week during which the cadets will be kept in army barracks and participate in the life at the base.

The privilege of making this trip has been extended to Civil Air Patrol Cadets by General Harper of the Army Air Forces Training Command in recognition and in furtherance of the training program conducted by Civil Air Patrol under direction of the Army Air Forces. Because only a limited number of cadets can be accommodated and safely supervised at a busy Army Air Base, quotas were set up for each Squadron of Cadets throughout the country and the quotas were filled by the selection of Cadets having the best service records.

The following young men have been selected from the Warren squadron: William D. Smith, Louis Nichols, Roy Sherman, Richard Fisk, James Simmons, Arnold Allen, Donald Owens, Algot Eckstrom, Dale Soderberg, Harry Baxter.

Other Cadets have been named as alternates to take the places of any who are unable to make the trip. The Cadets are required to comply with Army regulations as to immunization against small pox and typhoid. Inoculations will be made at once by the Medical Officer of Group 5, Civil Air Patrol, Dr. Biddle so that the Cadets will be ready to move when orders are received. It is expected that eighty cadets from Group 5 will be ordered to air bases at the same time. The Cadets will be in charge of Officers of Civil Air Patrol while enroute to the air bases and upon their return home. This opportunity is one of several such planned for the future and the young men chosen for this training trip will see and learn much that will be of future advantage to them.

The Warren Squadron of Civil Air Patrol Cadets is accepting recruits on Thursday Nights at the National Guard Armory between the hours of 7:30 and 9:00 p. m. Training in aeronautical subjects with texts furnished by Army Air Forces and military drill is offered to all recruits. Warren expects to have 90 Cadets in uniform by September 1st.

Sheffield Flier Escapes Injury Intercepted 19 Times By Japs

Sheffield friends of Andy Yusko, Jr., of Sheffield, concerning his adventures in the Northwest Area, Southwest Pacific, Andy, 21-year-old, is a staff sergeant and is a combat photographer flying with the big bombers, photographing results. If he hasn't had "it" by now, he is never going to get "it," say his pals. Despite his youth, he has spent 16 months overseas and is "the most intercepted man" in U. S. Group X, which flies some of aviation's toughest missions.

Andy, who joined the army when he was 18, has to date accompanied his outfit's big Liberators on 33 combat missions, most of which averaged around 2,000 miles and 12 hours flying time. Never attached to the same Liberator twice, machines in which Andy was a crew member were intercepted by enemy fighters the first 29 times that he took to the air.

On his first operational flight—a strike against the Kai Islands—September 14, ten Zeros jumped the Liberator in which Andy—incidentally qualified on all guns—was riding. Andy's big ship came home on three engines that time—but three of the "Zekes" paid for it.

His "hottest" scrape, as Andy put it, was while he was participating in his 29th mission—over Goelink Bay, in northern New Guinea, last month. Andy at the time was in a lone-wolf "Reddy" or reconnaissance Liberator. Twelve Zeros "jumped" the four-engine bomber. In a savage hour-long fight the Liberator downed four of the enemy aircraft.

It came home, however, a bullet-riddled sieve with at least 60 cannon shell and machine-gun bullet holes throughout the length and breadth of its huge "cigar-box" frame. It made a successful landing, despite shrapnel-punctured tires.

Andy's longest combat mission to date has been a 17-hour "job" over the Halmahera Islands, lying north and west of New Guinea. Yes, he was intercepted on that one, too.

Although classified by Uncle Sam as a combat photographer, Andy has manned in action every gun of the Liberator in which he flies. Eloquent, if silent, testimony as to his effectiveness at these guns is evidenced by the fact that he has always been a welcome addition to the crews of any of the ships of Air Group "X."

Andy hasn't decided yet what he's going to do after the war. He feels that that's a long, long way off—at least in the Pacific. Although he hasn't been intercepted in his last four missions, he's pretty confident that it won't be too long now before Zeros again crowd his sights. Strangely enough, he's looking forward to it.

Andy isn't the only Yusko fighting this war, he informs us. His only two other brothers of military age (he has four brothers) are both in England. One is with the gallant Royal Air Force, the other is a "foot soldier" in a British infantry regiment.

If his brothers are doing as well as Andy (Liberators in which he has flown have been officially credited with 19 enemy "kills") heaven help the "Jerry."

Largely attended services were held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the Peterson Memorial Home for Victor Mahaffey Grangust, seaman first class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Grangust, of Akeley, who lost his life by drowning near his home Thursday evening while on leave from Great Lakes naval training station. Many beautiful flowers attested to the popularity of the young sailor, who was being trained as a radio technician at the Great Lakes school.

Officiating at the rites were Rev. M. I. Harding, of Epworth Methodist church; Rev. Philip Schlick, of Russell and Akeley Methodist churches; Rev. Gordon

Ask First at
Warren Bank and Trust Co.Keynoter Kerr Is a Loyal
Booster For Pres. Roosevelt

By NEA Service

Oklahoma City, July 17—For they keynoter the Democrats selected a rising politician who possesses at least three unusual claims to distinction.

Robert Samuel Kerr is the first native-born governor Oklahoma ever had. Also—and this is becoming very rare—he was born literally in a log cabin, on September 11, 1891. His birthplace was 60 miles—three days by wagon—from the nearest railroad station.

Bob Kerr is a big man in more ways than one. He is huge physically, six feet three inches tall—which is an inch shorter than his 17-year-old son Bob, Jr., and an inch taller than his 15-year-old son Breece—and weighs 245 pounds.

He is big as a self-made business man, head of his own $5,000,000 Keryn Oil Co., one of the most substantial of the smaller independents. The company's major business is drilling wells for other operators in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Montana, Wyoming and Colorado. In addition, Kerr's firm annually sells about $1,000,000 worth of its own oil.

And he is big politically, up to now highly successful in his own state and boosted by his admirers as a man who will leave his imprint on national Democratic politics. There are those who think that he would make an excellent running mate this year for President Roosevelt.

Bob's father, Sam Kerr, took his wife and infant daughter Lois from Texas to Indian Territory in a covered wagon, lived that first winter in a tent, and then built the 14-foot square log cabin in which Bob was born. The cabin still stands and is occupied.

The elder Kerr was farmer and rancher, taught rural school, kept a store and was a cotton buyer. Bob helped his father and went to school at Ada. He studied at the Ada State Normal School, at Oklahoma Baptist University, and at the University of Oklahoma.

When World War I broke out Bob was too young for officers' training camp and lacked the formal educational requirements.

Dean James S. Buchanan of the University of Oklahoma helped by enrolling Bob as a senior, and young Kerr broke the bottleneck by adding a year to his age. He went to France in 1918 as a shaver, too late to see fighting action.

In his first political activity, he helped elect a state commander for the American Legion in 1924.

Next year he took over that office for himself.

His next major venture into politics came 10 years later, when he helped elect the late E. W. Marland as governor. In 1938 he was given much credit for the election of Leon C. Phillips as governor. He broke with Phillips in 1940, when Kerr became Oklahoma's most ardent, active Third Termer while Phillips opposed Mr. Roosevelt's re-election vigorously.

As newly-made national committeeman, Kerr led the successful New Deal drive in his state in 1940; and in 1942, successfully bucking an anti-Democratic tide that sent the Willkie-Democrat, E. H. Moore, to the U. S. Senate as a Republican, Kerr was elected governor.

Out of many anecdotes told about Bob Kerr, perhaps the one concerning his courtship most nearly epitomizes his character and methods. In the summer of 1925 he noticed a tall blonde visitor on an Ada tennis court. He wangled an invitation and obtained a date for horseback riding. That led to a tennis date, which in turn led to a proposal date. On this third encounter, Bob informed Grayce Breece that they were going to be married, and she could select the date if she had any choice. Miss Breece kept him demanding for a few weeks, but they were married the day after that Christmas.

When he first left the Army, young Kerr went into the produce business. Burned out, he studied and practiced law. Soon after he was married, he formed a partnership with a brother-in-law in the oil well drilling business. They worked in the fabulously rich Oklahoma City field, where almost any hole in the ground spouted oil, and by taking part of their drilling fees in the form of equities in the wells, they shared in that wealth.

From this grew the prosperity of the Keryn Oil Company, and Bob Kerr's position as a leader in the industry. From 1935 until he ran for governor, he was president of the Kansas-Oklahoma division of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Ass'n.

Kerr is a Baptist, a prohibitionist, an ardent Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and civic worker. Besides the two older boys, the Kerr children include Kay, 13, and Bill, 6.

Bell Awarded
Certificate Of Appreciation

The Chief Signal Officer's Certificate of Appreciation "for loyal and patriotic services rendered the Signal Corps of the Army of the United States" was awarded the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania Friday at special ceremonies in the company's headquarters building in Philadelphia. The award is designed as a testimonial to organizations and individuals who have performed outstanding services beyond the normal requirements of duty.

The telephone company was among the organizations which participated in a vast recruiting program during the early days of the war, when specialized communications personnel was vitally needed by the Signal Corps in a period of unprecedented expansion. Large organizations recruited entire signal units from within their own employees and in most cases supplied both officers and enlisted personnel.

The Bell Company now has a total of 486 employees in the armed forces, more than half of them in the Signal Corps.

The award was presented to Philip C. Staples, president of the telephone company, by Colonel Howard S. Paddock, Signal Officer, Third Service Command, representing Major General H. C. Ingles, Chief Signal Officer.

YOUNGVILLE NEWS

Youngville, July 14—There was a large attendance Thursday evening at the Fellowship dinner and the 4th quarterly conference meeting held in the dining room of the Methodist church with guests present from the Garland and Irvine churches. The dining room was pleasingly decorated with flowers for the beautiful cooperative dinner. A group of young ladies of the church were present and assisted in serving.

Rev. and Mrs. Galbraith of Jamestown were guests and Dr. Galbraith, as District Superintendent conducted devotionals and the quarterly conference meeting. Very good reports of the work of the church were given from each of the churches showing an increase in membership and in world service and pastor's salary. Appreciation was expressed for the work during the year of the pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Dwight Jack.

Plans are going forward for the Methodist Sunday School and church picnic to be held on Island Park Wednesday afternoon and evening, July 19.

Mrs. Arnold Codisop and two children of East Orange, N. J., are spending a month or more with the former's aunt Mrs. Frank Black of West Main street.

Mrs. Codisop is a graduate of the Warren General Hospital Nurses Training Course and spent one day this week in Warren with a group of seven friends, all members of her class in the Nursing course of the Warren General Hospital.

Mrs. Blanche Kirham and Miss Dra. Schnell have returned from a recent trip to Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Walters and family were recent visitors on Chautauque Lake.

Mrs. Wade Ransom is reported on the sick list, having been a patient in the Warren hospital.

WAC Officer
Will Be Here
Wednesday

Lt. Esther P. Potts, WAC Recruiting officer for the district will be in Warren at the YWCA Wednesday July 19th to talk to interested applicants about the Women's Army Corps.

There is a triple choice plan for the Women's Army Corps, which has been announced recently, allows WACS to choose their jobs from the Army's list of 239. If a WAC has no special training, she can secure new skills for herself by attending one of the Army's highly technical schools.

As their second choice under this plan, WACS can choose their branch of service from the Army Air Forces, Army Service Forces or Army Ground Forces.

Choice of any camp or airfield in the section of the country where they enlist is the third feature of the plan. This means that WACS can fill important jobs at Army stations near enough their homes to allow them to visit their families on weekend passes.

IRVINE

Irvine, July 13—This is a beautiful day owing to the rain in the few days past which cooled the air and helped the crops a lot.

Mrs. Allie Johnson of Titusville was a guest of her sister Mrs. Floyd Smith a few days last week. She had her little grand daughter with her.

Miss Isabella Randalilla who has been very sick is able now to be out and her friends hope she will soon be her former self.

Mr. James Murray, our justice of the peace for several years has been confined to his bed for several weeks.

Dick Huling left this week for camp after spending a ten day furlough with his parents, also Charles Zueri has been home and gone again.

Mrs. Harry Johnson left Sunday for a vacation at Oil City and Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Lucile Nulph has been quite poorly for some time last week. She went to Cleveland on Tuesday and returned Thursday and after two weeks she expects to return and undergo an operation. Her many friends are hoping she may regain her health.

The William McCauley family is spending the summer at their summer camp across the river.

Howard Walters and four children Jean, Howard Jr., Barbara and John from Pittsburgh arrived last Friday morning to visit his mother Irene Walters and the Stewart-Jaquins family on Frank street, Warren. They left here Tuesday evening to get the flyer yesterday morning for Erie on the way home.

Mrs. Myrtle Weaver Sederburg underwent an operation at the Warren Hospital some time ago. She has returned home up Irvine Run. Her many friends would like to see her improve faster.

The storm yesterday played with several of the phones but they seem to be working at them.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lightner had their children from Pittsburgh several days. They have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Oviatt have been entertaining their granddaughters from Amherst, Ohio.

Ruth Stewart who is training for a nurse at Williamsport left this morning after spending two weeks with her parents and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie St wart and family have returned to their home at Danville, Ill. after spending several days at his home here.

Rev. Perrin who has been pastor of the Presbyterian church here for several years has been transferred to Scrub Grass, Pa., near Emington. He will be missed in the church and his many friends in town.

The WCUU after some years quiet, has been reorganizing and met recently with Bertha Walters. Mrs. Dallas, county president, was present and a good turn out and a pleasant afternoon ending with a fine lunch.

COUNTY KITCHENS ARE TIN MINES

Women of Warren county can "mine" tin sufficient for 144 Flying Fortresses this year.

These figures were compiled by J. A. Stewart, vice-president of the American Can Company, on the basis of canned foods consumed by civilians in the county during 1943. On the basis of last year's consumption, civilians will open 3,465,912 cans of food this year, he says. According to a table recently issued by Washington, 24,000 cans provide tin sufficient for one Flying Fortress.

Meanwhile, the armed forces consumed approximately three billion cans of food during 1943 and needs for the current year are expected to rise to three and a quarter billion cans, Mr. Stewart says. He points out that with a greatly increased number of the armed forces in overseas duty, more canned foods will be needed because the can has proved the most practical container for the shipment of foods abroad.

As co-chairman of the Warren County Salvage Committee, Mrs. H. W. Conarro would like to thank the patriotic women of Warren county for the splendid work they have done on the last tin can pick-up, which netted more than a large carload or over 300,000 cans, well processed. This is the eighth car shipped from Warren county.

Please continue to save every tin can as Warren County has ranked among the highest in the state in their work in this project. This is the one job that only a woman can do, and it contributes more to the war effort than they realize.

Mrs. Conarro also asks the women of the county to save every kind of paper as it is number one on vital war salvage and our county's quota is 213 tons per month or more than 14 carloads. The next pick-up in Warren will be Wednesday, July 19.

SITUATION ON THE PENINSULA

By DeWitt MacKenzie Associated Press War Analyst

Heavy intensification of the war in the European theatre may be expected from now on since there are only about three months of prime fighting weather left to the Allies before the autumn rains come to the aid of the Hitlerites, and on that basis the possibility of an early knock-out of Germany depends on what happens in the next dozen weeks or so.

A happy sign of Allied determination to make hay while the sun shines is seen in today's report of General Montgomery's attack in the Caen sector to secure a more favorable position for a major offensive. In other words the big battle for which we have been waiting seems to be boiling up at long last. This decisive engagement must be fought and won by the Allies before they can break out of the Peninsula into the wide open spaces which will give access to Paris—and Berlin.

Things have been moving slowly for the United Nations in Normandy. There have been several reasons for this—vile weather, heavy Nazi resistance, and Montgomery's unwillingness to sacrifice the lives of Allied troops unnecessarily by making a major attack before he was fully equipped. The general is daring but not foolhardy, and his great successes give confidence in his judgment. Apparently he finally is about set for the big show.

The fresh battle at Caen, which is a preliminary to the all-out drive, is of great importance. This ancient inland port and military stronghold is the pivot on which the final engagement of the peninsula will turn. Once Montgomery has maneuvered his forces into favorable position he will launch his big offensive. If his old opponent of the African desert, Nazi Field Marshal Rommel, doesn't open the attack first.

The coming battle of Normandy will be a bloody affair because of its vast importance. Upon it depends whether the Allied invasion will be stalled thereby giving Hitler a new lease of life, or whether we shall break through to the hinterland quickly. Hitler's hope is slim, not that the Allies are well established on the Peninsula, but he is bound to fling everything he can into this decisive engagement.

As a matter of fact, the Führer's new scheme of making France the decisive theatre seems to be on the rocks already.

The German peril has been multiplied by the Russian capture of the strategic city of Orlovka. This is one of the doors to East Prussia, which the Russians are approaching with amazing speed. The way things are moving the Red armies will be on German soil in the immediate future.

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — The Civil Aeronautics Board has made two announcements recently, the results of which may sooner than anticipated determine the pattern for our participation in post-war world aviation.

The first was an outline, subject to revision, of course, of what the international air routes of tomorrow will be. The second was the announcement that in July, CAB will start hearings on the more than 100 applications for international air routes now on file.

In outlining the world plan CAB told of the nation's interest in international airlines and landing fields.

The proposed routes cover 140,000 airline miles, touching more than 50 countries. Of these, 60,000 miles are over new routes. It would be impossible to describe these world airlines here, but certain points are significant. If CAB's routes are followed, the jumping off cities for world travel will be New York, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Miami, New Orleans, Brownsville, Charleston, Chicago and the Twin Cities, with one other point in the southeastern United States.

ALASKA would become a great crossroads between Chicago and Seattle here, and Tokyo, Vladivostok, Singapore and Hong Kong. Out of New York, Newfoundland would be the point of departure for London, Berlin, Rome and Cairo; as well as for Stockholm, Leningrad, Moscow and Teheran. The southern cities would be the leaders for Mexico and South America, as well as for the southern route to the Mediterranean.

State department officials say the routes will entail an enormous amount of work, but by no means is it an insurmountable task. Many of the lanes cross countries where we already have agreements. Since our policy is to establish these lines purely on a competitive basis, and in nearly every instance to swap reciprocal landing rights in this country, few nations who have any hopes of building future international airlines of their own would hesitate to participate.

The first hearings on foreign service franchises will be on those which operate through the Caribbean to South America and Africa. Both continents now are ready for commercial aviation as soon as planes are available and wartime restrictions on commercial aviation can be relaxed.

Aviation experts here are predicting that not more than a dozen franchises will be granted out of the many now on file. CAB will grant them on a basis of financial responsibility, and experience in operation of domestic airlines, or possibly other carriers.

The decisions of the CAB aren't final. The president has the right of ratification or veto and even then it is up to the State department to give clearance before the proposed routes can be opened.

County Agents News

Binder Breakdowns Can Be Avoided

A thorough checkup on binders will not only avoid breakdowns but will insure good tight bundles of the right size, County Agent Tritt points out.

A binder must be in good shape and operated to meet field conditions, if sloppy, loose, and poorly shaped bundles are to be avoided, he says. The cutter bar should be really sharp if a clean cut is to make a square bottom on the bundle.

Adjusting the reel to tip the straw straight back on the platform is necessary to have the straw move properly on the elevator. Often a platform retarded, such as a wire or metal strip, can be attached at the outer edge of the platform to help keep the straw moving properly on to the elevator.

Slats torn from canvas cause elevator difficulties. A loose frame or worn roller bearing will cause the elevator to shift and loosen slats. Thorough lubrication of all moving parts will facilitate operation and chains should be checked, for rusty parts as well as to make certain chains are the proper size for each sprocket.

Beetles, Aphids Squash Bugs are Prevalent in Vegetable Gardens Now

Considerable damage from beet beetles, several types of plant lice, and squash bugs have been reported in vegetable gardens the past week and require prompt control, according to County Agent Tritt.

Damage from the Mexican bean beetle has been apparent, and a treatment of 1/2 per cent rotenone dust now will save the bean crops, he says.

Watch for aphids, plant lice, or the small sucking insects, particularly on broccoli as it starts to head, the county agent urges. Green aphids have been observed on the undersides of leaves of melon, squash, and cucumber plants, as well as cabbage plants. These can be controlled with a spray prepared by mixing a teaspoon of nicotine sulphate and a small handful of ethered flake or soap powder in a gallon of water. Undersides of leaves should be sprayed thoroughly.

Squash bugs appearing on small plantings can be most easily controlled by hand-picking the adults and the brown egg masses found on the undersides of leaves. The adults can easily be trapped by placing a board on the ground near the base of the plants. During the heat of the day, the adult squash bugs will collect under the boards and they can easily be destroyed then, he says.

Mid-Summer Seeding Adds Vegetables in Garden

Numerous crops can be sown in mid-summer to keep the garden in production as well as insure crop of fall greens, reminds County Agent Tritt. Because of the usual hot, dry weather, mid-summer plantings require a special procedure to insure sprouting.

He suggests turnips, rutabagas, kale, spinach, fall radish, cabbage, Chinese cabbage, endive, and lettuce as some of the vegetables which can be planted now.

For best results, mid-summer plantings should be in a little deeper than spring plantings. Thorough watering of the furrow before sowing the seed is important. Addition of some mulching material in the covering of the seed will help hold the moisture and give the seeds a chance to sprout. More water may be needed as the plants appear, although the county agent recommends occasional thorough watering rather than frequent light watering.

When the plants are still small, the poorer ones should be pulled. Thinning down to the right spacing makes the best plants, and thinning conserves moisture, an important item in mid-summer planting.

Spray Bordeaux For Late Potato Blight

Word that the late blight has been found in potato fields prompts County Agent Tritt to urge a careful and systematic spray of bordeaux mixture on all potato plants in Warren County.

The county agent points out that although the past week's weather has been unfavorable for development and spread of the blight, arrival of any damp, moist weather conditions will help the blight to spread rapidly with devastating effects.

A good coverage of every potato plant with bordeaux mixture is the only safe control of blight spread, he points out.

tain circumstances, County Agent Tritt says farmers who know the most common causes of trouble may prevent the sickness or death of valuable stock on pasture.

Probably the most frequent cause of death is eating wilted leaves of the common wild cherry, found in numerous fence rows. Unwilted wild cherry appears to be harmless, but if a tree or branch blows down, the deadly prussic or hydrocyanic acid forms as the leaves begin to dry. This is the same property which renders sorghum poisonous under certain conditions. A trip around the pasture after severe storm to look for trees or branches knocked down, may be time well spent, he points out.

Poison hemlock and water hemlock are common weeds in some pastures, especially on moist land. Both are large branching plants with hollow stems and flattened clusters of small white flowers similar to those of the wild carrot. Both have a strong odor when crushed. Stock usually leave the large plants alone, but may eat the young growth in the spring or after the pasture is mown along with the grass. These weeds should be pulled when the ground is moist, or the stock fenced out of areas where they occur.

White snakeroot sometimes kills or sickens cattle and sheep. It grows in shaded areas and also has small white flowers in a flattened cluster at the top of the rather tall, slender, unbranched stem.

Bracken or brake fern is believed to cause symptoms similar to those of hemorrhagic septicemia. It is common and well known in northern counties. Stock will not eat it if other food is adequate, and it rarely causes trouble in improved pastures.

Young plants of jimson weed and the first leaves of cocklebur are often eaten by hogs with fatal results. Both are common in the average hog lot, which too often offers little edible forage except coarse weeds.

SAW SMALL TWISTER

Sam Henson reported today seeing a midge twister while at work in a hayfield on a farm last week. The hay had been hauled in with the exception of a small quantity when a real twister covering a space about fifty yards wide came up the field and bathed up the hay and lifted it over trees and carried it away, scattering it over a wide area. Others also report that the winds this summer seem to take the form of twisters and one report states that a twister came up the river last week tearing at trees and bushes as it made its way upstream.

Wilford Crouse Seneca Pres. Died in Salamanca Hospital

Wilford Crouse, president of the Seneca Nation of New York, died in the Salamanca Hospital Saturday, July 15th. He had been for some time a patient in the Warren General Hospital; but he was removed to Salamanca when it became evident that there was no chance of his recovery from the heart ailment which caused his death. He was aged 42. He is survived by his father, Jerome Crouse; his wife, Effie Watt Crouse; his daughter, Thelma Crouse Oldfield, whose husband is in the Army; a grandson, Gordon Oldfield; and an adopted son.

In the 1840's the Senecas of the Cattaraugus and Allegany Reservations in New York State abandoned government by chiefs in favor of a form of constitutional, representative government like our own. It's constitution provided for a President, to be chosen from the Cattaraugus and Allegany Reservations in alternation; a Surrogate, Counsellors, Peacemakers and other Nation officials. It was explicitly recognized as an independent nation by the governments of New York and of the United States. This was, of course in line with the repeated guarantees given the Senecas by both on the many occasions when they sold lands or made other treaty concessions to the whites. The lands on both Reservations are national property. The railroads, utilities and the towns located thereon, including the City of Salamanca, lease from the Nation and pay rent therefor.

Naturally the whites object to this. For over a century they have put great pressure on the Nation to divide its lands, allotting them in severalty so that the white lessees may deal with individual fee owners and themselves become actual owners instead of tenants. They have persuaded some Senecas to their point of view.

Almost from the beginning, two political parties developed within the Nation. One favored resistance to white encroachments of every sort and maintenance of the ancient liberties by all means short of violence. The opposition party is no less opposed to delivering over, but its membership has taken more or less the position—"What's the Use? We're licked anyhow. Why spend all the money and go to all the trouble?"

Two families on the Allegany Reservation have for years led the "conservative" element—the Crouses and Watts. The original Crouse there was that Peter Crouse who was taken captive as a boy during the Revolution and who preferred to remain amongst the Senecas when he might have left. He settled down near Old Town, New York; married an Indian woman and reared a large family of children all of whom were considered Indians by the rules of Seneca descent. Wilford Crouse was a direct descendant of this Peter, although the percentage of white blood in his veins from that quarter was small.

Wilford married the daughter of Hiram Watt, leader of the Pagan Handsome Lake religion amongst the Allegany Senecas. Hiram's son, Caphas Watt, was a great student of the treaties, laws and rulings under which his Nation had been erected and was the Seneca's ablest leader against the whites. For instance, during the last World War, the Nation took the position that its people were not subject to draft. Knowing that for a century the courts of the United States had consistently found against the Seneca Nation wherever any issue was joined before them between the Nation and the whites' governments, he advocated avoiding the issue at that time and lead in effect the voice of Cephass amongst the people and successor to Cephass' position as first advocate amongst Senecas for preservation of their independence.

Wilford Crouse died while serving his fourth term as President. He was sober, industrious, honest, intelligent and able. These qualities earned for him the respect of Indians and whites alike. He was the sort of man who would make his mark in any society.

His funeral will be held from his home near Cold Spring, N. Y., on Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Making the trip from Pittsburgh by bus, Mr. and Mrs. Samuels arrived at North Warren about 2:30 o'clock, both in apparent good health. Until he was stricken there was no indication that Mr. Samuels had heart ailment. A certificate of death from a heart attack was issued by the coroner.

Bond Sales to Individuals In County Are Increasing

The Warren County War Finance Committee's consolidated report for sales of war bonds in the Fifth War Loan shows a slightly increasing improvement in the sales of bonds in individuals, which however, have reached only 44% of the quota established for such sales. Bond buyers are again reminded that sales of Series "E", "F" and "G" war bonds bought during the entire month of July, as well as the Tax Savings Notes, will continue to count toward Warren county's quota in the Fifth War Loan. It is known that the payroll allotments of several industries will add substantial amounts, but it will require considerable purchases in large amounts to fulfill the record which Warren county has made in the previous War Loans.

Workers in the Junior War Finance Committee are reminded that this is the day for completion of their task and a final report through Boy Scout headquarters, supplementing the excellent report turned in last week, following the hundreds of calls made by those groups in the borough and county.

There was an especially large attendance Sunday evening for the outdoor community worship service held by the Warren County Ministerial Association on Beaty school lawn. It was necessary to add chairs to the seating capacity afforded by the bleachers to handle the audience.

A very enjoyable 15-minute concert of sacred music was played by the Salvation Army Band under the direction of Capt. Arthur Brandenburg just prior to the regular evening service.

Rev. Ernest Ruark, of First Baptist church, was in charge and gave a fine address on "Centralization of the Cross." The ladies' quartet from his church, Mrs. H. D. Harris, Mrs. Foster Maze, Miss Viola Lindmark and Miss Evelyn Wolstencroft, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Other pastors assisting in the service were Rev. Nore Gustafson, of St. Paul's, who gave the Scripture; Dr. H. A. Rindard, First Lutheran, who offered prayer, and Rev. B. F. Armstrong, county Sunday school missionary, who pronounced the benediction.

Next Sunday's speaker will be Dr. Rindard, with music by the First Lutheran choir.

The fuselage before the flames became too hot.

Scores and then hundreds gathered at the scene and the bodies of the men killed were taken out. Ambulances from Jamestown were rushed to the scene and the injured were taken to hospitals. The bodies were recovered later. Officers arrived soon and guarded the plane.

A call for the Jamestown Civil Air Patrol got many of the squadron on the scene within a matter of a short time and they stood guard until Saturday night. Then a call was sent to Warren for members of the Warren Squadron and they sent a group under command of Lieut. Vincent Burkhardt to the scene. They stood guard from 9 o'clock last night until this morning. The CAP Cadets returned home this morning tired by their long vigil.

Women of Ashville Red Cross and of the Niobe Red Cross served coffee, sandwiches and doughnuts to the CAP guard at three hour intervals. The women from Niobe were in charge of the serving while the Warren Patrol was on guard.

The charred remains of the big Liberator drew crowds all day Sunday and thousands visited the scene of the crash. It was a sad ending to an attempted farewell to the family of the young officer.

Forge Loses to Wagner's All-Stars 5 to 3

Largest Crowd of the Season At Wilder Field to Witness Close And Exciting Contest

The National Forge team after winning 15 consecutive games bowed to Honus Wagner's All-Stars at Wilder Field Sunday afternoon by the close score of 5 to 3. The game attracted the largest crowd ever to assemble at the field, there being 1,200 fans in attendance.

Although Forge outlived the All-Stars 8 to 6, the visitors took advantage of Gagliardi's wildness in the opening frame when Freddie issued passes to Pope and Debnar. With two men retired Firstbaseman Fugal and Rightfielder Gorman singled to put over the two tallies.

Forge opened the first with Gagliardi and Morrison getting hits but they were stranded as Rosequist and Natale failed in the clutch. The All-Stars scored two more in the fifth on singles by Debnar and Heyl. With one out Fugal fled to Morrison who threw to the plate. Rosequist failed to hold the ball and Debnar scored. This would have been the third out and no runs scored. Gorman singled and Heyl scored the second tally. The final score for the All-Stars came in the sixth on a base on balls to McKinney, a sacrifice bunt and a wild throw by Geigerich. Another unearned run.

Forge finally scored in the sixth after Creola walked and Geigerich laid down a sacrifice bunt. Morrison singled, Creola going to third, scoring on a fly ball by Rosequist. Natale singled off the third baseman's glove and J. Massa failed to come through, the first time in many years. Forge scored two more in the seventh. Solok singled and scored on a hard hit ball by McKinney into deep left field, the sphere traveling 360 feet. McKinney scored on Gagliardi's out. Creola singled but Geigerich hit into a fast double play, ending another scoring threat.

St. Joes Win First Half Of Church League

St. Joes, last year's YMCA Church League champions, took the first half title in the league by defeating Grace Methodist Friday evening at Beatty Field by the score of 10 to 8. The game was filled with excitement from start to finish, with many arguments between players and umpire Red Tome and Thayer Font played outstanding ball in the field for St. Joes, while Rader as usual pitched fine ball for Grace Methodist. Errors by his team mates caused his defeat. The box score:

Forge Wins Close One From Fast Young Jamestown Team

National Forge won its 15th consecutive game of the season Friday night against a fast, young and well schooled bunch of Jamestown boys playing under the name of Newberry's. Score 2 to 0.

The young Jamestowners played heads-up ball throughout. On different occasions had men on second and third when beautiful stops by Freeborough and Geigerich kept them from tying up the game. On the other hand the visitors, outlived 9 to 4, kept Forge from scoring by fielding flawlessly. Freeborough pitched beautiful ball, fanning ten and allowing only four hits. Onik, formerly from Sheffield, had Forge hitters guessing with his unusual style.

A return game is booked with the team at the Sate Hospital Field on a date to be announced early in August and fans who failed to get a glimpse of the outfit seventh and did a good job holding Forge for the remainder of the game. Gagliardi pitched fine ball holding the All-Stars to six hits, the lowest they have registered all year. Forge scored three earned runs to the two by the All-Stars, Forge got a hand from Wagner, who stated that the team was the best semi-pro nine that his outfit has encountered all season. The All-Stars are playing five to six times a week and are undefeated this year, and Forge fans feel proud of their team.

The largest crowd of the season witnessed a well-played game, fans coming from miles away to see the game. Through the efforts of Honus Wagner, who supervises the Red-eration of Semi-Pro baseball in the Pittsburgh district it will be possible for fans of the Forge team to see only the best teams of the entire area. Any team seen at Wilder Field in the near future coming from the Pittsburgh district must be recommended through Wagner.

Next Sunday, July 23rd, the crack Dormont club from Pittsburgh, rated by Wagner as equal to his team, will be brought to Wilder Field at great expense, and it is hoped that fans will respond as they have in the past so Forge can assure better teams from Sunday to Sunday.

PONY LEAGUE
Buffalo, N. Y., July 17.—(P.) The league leading Lockport Cubs snowed the Wellsville Yankees under last night in an avalanche of 20 runs in two innings to capture the first game of a double header 20-2. Wellsville took the lead in the first inning of the second game but lost it in the fourth when the Cubs gained five runs and added 10 more in the remaining innings to make the score 15-3. The Hornell Pirates played errorless ball for nine innings but lost to the Batavia Clippers 4-3. Erie was within one run of tying the Olean Oilers when Pitcher Jack Banta struck out two of the sailors ending the game 7-6. The Bradford Blue wins nosed out the Jamestown Falcons 7-6 despite a last minute Falcon rally which netted three runs in the ninth. Today games: Bradford at Jamestown, Erie at Olean, Wellsville at Lockport.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Baltimore, July 17.—(P.) Baltimore's International League pennant aspirations took an upward leap today as Ace Pitcher Sam Lowry returned to the mound instead of entering the navy as scheduled. Announcement of his deferment by his Philadelphia draft board until after the expected birth of a child to his wife this fall was made yesterday by Orioles Manager "Tommy" Thomas after Lowry, in the first end of a double-header against Jersey City, pitched what was thought to be his last game for the duration. The 33-year-old pitcher was his eighth against five defeats.

Chicago, July 17.—(P.)—George Case Washington's base-stealer de luxe, will hook up in a speed duel with fleet Thurman Tucker of the White Sox featuring a war relief baseball show scheduled July 26 at Comiskey Park. They'll match strides in a 60-yard sprint.

First Flight Browns to Beat For League Title Instead of Yankees

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Browns, enroute home today from their second eastern road trip, still are perched at the top of the standings, giving every indication they are the team to beat for the American League flag.

They wound up their stay abroad by capturing both games of a double header from the Cleveland Indians, 8-7 and 2-1, before 32,553, with both games going 12 innings. The double win gave the Browns a record of 10 wins and 10 losses on their trip, after having dropped four of their first six games. The showing is a great improvement over their first road trip, which brought them only six victories against 12 defeats.

The sweep increased the Browns' first place lead over the New York Yankees to two full games. Four home runs by Don Savage, Johnny Lindell, George Stinewiss and Herschel Martin gave the New York Yankees a 7-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the opener of a scheduled twin-bill before 41,171. A thundershower prevented the team from playing the second game. The victory gave the Yankees the series, four games to one.

Dizzy Trout won his second game in four days and his 12th of the season as Detroit and the Chicago White Sox divided their double header, the White Sox winning the first 7-2 and the Tigers taking the second 7-3.

The Chicago Cubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates exchanged 1-0 shutouts, with Hank Wyse of the Cubs gaining the nod over Truett (Rip) Sewell in the opener, and Max Butcher of the Pirates shading Claude Passeau in the second, before 40,920 at Wrigley Field.

The league leading Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds split their doubleheader. The Cards won the opener 4-2. The Reds took the nightcap 3-2 on Harry Brecheen's balk in the eighth inning, allowing Eddie Miller to score the deciding run. Sylvester (Blix) Donnelly won his first league game in the opener.

Washington won two games from the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-4 and 4-3, with Milo Candini and Mickey Haefner gaining the decisions. George Case stole a base in each game to raise his league-leading total to 26.

Brooklyn ended its longest losing streak in history by winning the second game 8-5 from the Boston Braves, after having dropped its 15th straight in losing opener. 8-4. Curt Davis gained the distinction of ending the Dodgers' slump with route-going seven-hit performance.

VOLO SONG IS OUT WITH A BROKEN LE

Elkhorn, Wis., July 17.—(P.) Volo Song, world champion trotting stallion, is through as a competitor, his career cut short by a broken leg suffered yesterday in a $400 race, but veterinarian and Trainer Harry Fitzpatrick hoped to save him for breeding purposes.

Winner of the $50,000 Hamletian classic for 3-year-old trotters at Goshen, N. Y., last August, the handsome brown son of Vomite had, less than a week before, set a world record for trotting stallions of 1:57 1/4 at Cleveland.

Horsemen hailed him as the successor to the renowned trotting gelding, Greyhound, whose winning race record of 1:57 was set in 1936. Purchased last fall by J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill., the price tag on Volo Song was $5,000.

In connection with the picnic, it was announced that the event will mark the first use of new permanent cutting facilities which are now being completed at Wilder Field. These improvements, which will be available for future use by National Forge employees as well as at the forthcoming picnic, include picnic tables and benches, playground apparatus for children, fireplaces and new water wells. Also erected at the field are new permanent toilet facilities.

It was stated that there will be a first aid tent on the grounds during the picnic, with a registered nurse on duty at all times. Tents will be erected for shelter in case of a shower.

It was down this road that the British drove in the first days of the invasion to take Villers-Bocage, but they were unable to hold it then.

Front advances reaching the supreme command indicated the whole nine-mile area from Caen to Noyers and east toward the town and developed into a heavy battle, with the Germans trying to block Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's first move toward obtaining "jump off" spots for a major offensive.

On the western end of the Normandy front, meanwhile, American patrols crossed the Ay river and were closing in on both sides of Lessay, which apparently was theirs for the taking as the opposition there was only moderate. A front dispatch said tank patrols entered the northern side of Lessay, the coastal hinge of the Germans' defense line, yesterday.

The supreme command announced the Allies had made gains in five sectors—three on the American and two on the British side of the line.

The brightest spot in the fighting outlook was the first good flying day in weeks, sending thousands of bombers and fighters pouring across the channel. Allied airmen had their greatest chance since D-Day to smash at Rommel's strength.

On both sides of St. Lo, where the Germans were fighting with the greatest fierceness, the Americans pushed forward about 400 yards to within 1-4 miles of the town of both the east and north-west.

The heaviest fighting on the whole front raged in the green valley between the Caen and Orne, where the British and Canadians had pushed forward yesterday in a sharp offensive which took Esquay, Gavrus, Bougy and Brettville. Rommel launched counter-attacks and late field dispatches said the Allies had been driven from Esquay, which now is in no man's land.

The American First Army reported it was regrouping in all sectors except that of St. Lo, and that its advance was likely to be slowed for a few days.

Last night the situation in Esquay still was confused, Associated Press Correspondent Roger Greene said in a front dispatch northwest of the town, the Germans threw in more and more armor in savage efforts to regain blood-soaked "crucifix hill"—Hill 112.

The Germans also fought north-east from Evrecy yesterday toward a hill overlooking Esquay. They gained a hold on Gavrus bridge across the Odon north of British-occupied Gavrus village.

Associated Press Correspondent Barbara Wace reported the WACS had landed on Cherbourg peninsula. The first detachment, 35 women from 23 states, settled down under canvas on the grounds of an old chateau.

Rome, July 17.—(P)—An American 90-mm. anti-aircraft gun, which hurled explosive shells at erratic velocity, is being used against enemy troops in Italy with devastating effect, and has proved an ideal dual purpose weapon, the Allied command said today.

Information from Sweden describes a 'true exodus' of the civilian population toward Germany. Many of these civilians had originally come to East Prussia to escape Allied bombings."

Washington, July 17.—(P)—A reported conflict between Vice President Wallace and a news photographer over a picture snapped at the Wardman Park hotel has been "amicably adjusted between the principals, a spokesman for the White House news photographers' association said today. POPULATION FIGURES

Three-fourths of the population increase in the United States during the last decade occurred within 30 miles of the 95 cities with more than 100,000 population.

Red Cross Wins High Praise From Former Warren Boys

Capt. Calvert H. Crary, formerly of Warren, and now adjutant of a Provost Marshal's command in charge of war prisoners in a North African city, wrote on July 2nd the following relative to the American Red Cross: "I am a strong booster of this organization. At the moment I am writing on the shaded roof garden which they constructed on top of the building next to the officer's club. They take good care of the soldiers who come to town on pass, with good movies and about everything a man could ask for. It keeps the boys out of trouble to have a fine place like that to go to. But probably their best work is what they do for men who are prisoners of war. If my observations are worth anything, I venture to say that their packages are the brightest spots in the lives of those fellows. Of course I see this process in reverse."

A brother, Capt. Stephen T. Crary, chaplain in an army hospital in a New Zealand city also recently wrote of the Red Cross as follows: "We have five Red Cross workers here—all women—and they have done an excellent job. Miss Russell, the field director, heads up the work. She is a trained social worker and does all the welfare problems, home infirmities, etc. I am constantly referring boys to her in such cases as sickness at home, emergency furloughs in case of some great need at home, lost addresses of relatives, inquiries about family conditions and all that this involves. She sends cables to the States and replies seem to get back in a week or two. The other workers are in charge of recreation and craft work and ward visiting. There is a program of some sort every evening in the Red Cross Hall for patients. Two nights a week they have movies. On two other nights they have stage shows with civilian talent. On one night they have a sort of party with local girls in attendance. On the other nights there is some sort of informal entertainment such as amateur movies, a travel talk, an accordion player or banjo. Then there are two craft workers—one of whom spends her time in the shop with the boys who are up and around. The other goes about to the wards to look after the bed patients. Leather work is most popular. Lots of the boys make pocket books, leather picture frames, writing cases, etc. Next in popularity is wood carving with Maori art as inspiration. They make bowls, boxes, and wall plaques. Occasionally a boy will do bead work or just plain braiding of string. They usually make belts. In addition to this we have a well organized group of Grey Ladies. They each come on certain days. They usually arrive from home with a load of flowers for the various wards. They take baskets of cigarettes, gum, stationery, etc. and make their rounds. Some of them write letters for the boys. Others do sewing and altering of clothes and all of them do shopping in town on request, picking up some gift for a boy to send home or some souvenir of his stay here. All in all the Red Cross is doing a great work here and because it goes on quietly and inconspicuously, few people realize what a big need they are filling.

Oil Expert Will Address Bradford Meet

Dr. S. T. Yuster, in charge of secondary recovery research at the School of Mineral Industries, Pennsylvania State College, will discuss certain phases of air-gas repressuring at a meeting of central Pennsylvania oil operators which will be held by the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association at Franklin.

The meeting will open at 7:30 p. m. at the Franklin court house and is open to all producers in the area.

The recently accelerated research program of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association includes research on all types of secondary recovery operations—namely air-gas injection and water-flooding. Dr. Yuster is in charge of this research at the state institution. His topic will deal only with air-gas secondary recovery methods at this meeting.

THIS "SOLID" EARTH

We speak of "solid" earth, and yet the earth spins on its axis, dashes around the sun, wobbling like a top as it goes; its core is liquid, its surface is three-fourths water, and even the ground is so elastic that it gives with the tides.

A Post-war Plan to Help "Small Business"...

3RD
in a series of ads on
post-war opportunities

Every business starts small. No business, however large, can function without good smaller businesses working with it day by day. The oil wells and refineries of Esso Marketers could not sell their output without the vast army of local, independent dealers and distributors who bring the bulk of our products to you.

At war, we have seen these businessmen do a magnificent job.

They have worked under most difficult rationing restrictions. Their manpower shortage has grown worse and worse. They have had to push old equipment to the limit.

And still they have done an outstanding job in helping to hold the nation's transportation together.

After the war they will have new tough problems to face—in modernizing facilities, replacing old equipment, expanding their businesses.

To help them do this we announce the Esso Marketers Business Assistance Plan.

THE PLAN, which will be revised from time to time to keep pace with new developments, includes:

1. Suggestions for post-war service station designs.
2. A list of recommended equipment now generally available, to which will be added new equipment from time to time.
3. Modernization of existing service stations to meet post-war needs for petroleum products and the handling of other services for automobiles, trucks and air travel.

4. This plan faces the fact that many of these smaller businessmen will not come through the war with financial reserves equal to their sound business expansion needs. This plan will supplement the service of local commercial banks in lending money to see these men "over the hump" of post-war needs.

Anyone interested in the plan, and qualified for its help, may write:

Had Narrow Escape From Lightning Bolt

"Buck" Whiteshot, who garnered one of the finest coats of tan to be seen in the city while changing a few tires and squirting gas in tanks of cars at the Times Square Service station is pretty pale today. His nerves are a bit shaky, too and as the result of being bombed by a bolt of lightning yesterday.

Mr. Whiteshot and his wife were at their camp near Hermit Springs when the big storm that passed Warren to the south roared in upon that section. It was a heavy storm accompanied by brilliant lightning and heavy thunder. Mr. and Mrs. Whiteshot were preparing breakfast when a bolt of lightning hit a tree within 16 feet of their cottage.

The lightning ripped the tree apart and tore out the roots following them to the corner of the cottage. A huge hole was torn in the earth near the cottage and the bolt ripped along one side of the cottage, tore a hole in the cement block chimney and passed out into the earth along a drain pipe from the sink. The blast missed the oil stove by a few inches and Mr. and Mrs. Whiteshot were also missed by a matter of feet.

"It was the most terrific noise I ever heard" said Mr. Whiteshot this morning in recounting his experience. Not until last evening was I able to hear and for hours afterward by eyes suffered from the effect of the blinding flash. I hope I never have another such experience as both Mrs. Whiteshot and I were so shaken that we left the camp soon after the occurrence and came home."

Pieces of the linoleum which covered the floor were exhibited by Mr. Whiteshot. The linoleum seemed to balloon up from the floor and then explode into hundreds of pieces. Files in the cottage were all killed by the heavy sulphurous fumes.

Fortunately no fire followed the visit of the lightning but the damage done to the cottage will be considerable.

Letters to the Editor

Editor Times-Mirror:

Friday evening's paper stated that S. H. Lodging, while searching for the body of Mr. Granquist, located it and lost it. This is a misstatement. Lodging and Silze were out in the lightning but the water was so roiling he could see nothing—water 12 to 15 feet deep. Another boat was also helping and thought they had located it, but it was something on the bottom, but not the body. These two boats were working long before the arrival of the fire department. Upon their arrival, after securing drag hooks, Lodging and Silze resumed operations, but all boats were too far downstream. A fireman asked for a boat and went out a while, but had to leave. Then Angove, Silze and Lodging took the boat out and Lodging suggested they drag nearer the bar. It was here in a few minutes the body was brought to the surface and brought to shore.

These are the facts.
S. H. LODGING.

Employees Given Welcome In Clever Sylvania Booklet

A 32-page booklet titled "Welcome to Sylvania" which is currently being given to every new employee of Sylvania Electric Products Inc., is being termed an outstanding illustration of cordial working relations between management and employees.

Prepared by the company's industrial relations department, the booklet covers working conditions, employee benefits and opportunities, company organization, obligations to the public and to stockholders, and gives a glimpse into the future.

"Many Sylvania people have asked what will the situation be after the war," says the booklet. "That is a searching question to which no man can give the whole answer today."

"We do know that we will cease to make a number of strictly war products."

"We hope that business conditions throughout the country after the war will be generally good. If this is so we foresee a good demand for Sylvania's regular bread-and-butter products on a scale equal to or larger than the pre-war rate."

"There is little question but that we shall see a broad expansion in the fluorescent lighting industry, particularly as this more efficient form of illumination becomes adapted to home use—the largest part of the market."

"Our radio tubes will be needed in sets to replace the many that will have worn out during the war and will be used in the new types of sets, such as FM and, as it develops, television."

"Depending upon worldwide conditions, we would anticipate an increasingly large foreign market for our products. The name Sylvania is registered in every leading country in the world."

The booklet is unusual in its warm effort to make the new employee forget his strangeness, to make him feel welcome. After a statement of greetings from W. E. Poor, president, the handbook asserts in sound, constructive fashion "Why You Are Here,"

"There is one thing that every new employee should remember. You are here at Sylvania because you are needed. In your plant or office there is a job that needs to be done and you have been selected on your record as the person to do it. It may take some time to get into the swing of it. New jobs are often puzzling at first. But you will be given careful instruction and it should not be long before you will find yourself naturally fitting into the scheme of things."

"Sylvania has been hiring people for over forty years because someone outside wanted more of the things we make. We have made radio tubes, fluorescent lamps and fixtures, incandescent lamps, and other electronics products so well and have given such value that people have wanted to buy more. And that is what created your job."

The booklet answers questions about the Employees Association Credit Union, savings and retirement plan, vacations with pay, sickness and eye-glass benefits group insurance, recreation and clubs, the suggestion system, employee training and other subjects of interest to newcomers.

The handbook closes with a brief description of some of the company products that are now fighting alongside United Nations servicemen.
